Special delivery — As the pandemic winds down, events are slowly getting back to normal. Having been fully vaccinated, the Easter bunny made a special delivery to the lawn of Redeemer Church early Sunday morning. With only a few children participating, there were plenty of eggs to fill the baskets quickly, guaranteeing a tear-free Easter egg hunt. Monroe Entsminger, along with her sister Rieve (not pictured), were a couple of the lucky hunters. (Jim Slonoff photo)

Low bid might mean concrete for Eighth

By Pamela Lannom
plannom@thehinsdalean.com

Although trustees had planned to repave Eighth Street with asphalt, an attractive bid has them considering concrete instead.

J. Nardulli Concrete submitted the low bid of $1.34 million to pave Eighth Street from Garfield Avenue to County Line Road with asphalt. The board also asked contractors to submit a bid for concrete, and one from G&M Cement Construction came in at $1.48 million.

With an additional $50,000 in construction observation costs for concrete, the savings from asphalt totals $192,000. Concrete typically is more expensive, which is why trustees have used it less frequently.

"When we're redoing streets, even if they are busted up concrete streets, we have reconstructed them in asphalt," Trustee Neale Byrnes said at Tuesday night's Hinsdale Village Board meeting. "That's been kind of our (standard operating procedure) and the reason we've been able to do a lot of the MIP projects is we haven't spent all that money up front."

Using concrete would save $371,000 in maintenance costs over the next 45 years, according to village staff.

"$371,000 matters, but it is not as big as I thought it would be," Trustee Jerry Hughes said. "The immediate savings also is not as big as I thought it would be for asphalt."

Several trustees said Eighth

Street is used often by drivers cutting across the south side of town who want to avoid 55th Street.

"People do not go onto 55th Street because of the traffic and the stop lights," Trustee Matt Posthuma said.

Trustee Lauren Haarlow agreed, describing Eighth as a major cross street.

"People are on Eighth Street. That's the go-to street," she said.

While Village President Tom Cauley acknowledged that point, he said his understanding is that car traffic is not the primary reason streets deteriorate.

"Even a street that has heavy car usage doesn't get the same work-out that a street does that has a lot of truck usage," he said.

Cauley also noted that if the village did use concrete, it would take 15 years to recoup the $192,000 in savings from using asphalt.

"A 15-year payback doesn't seem to justify, to me, the difference," he said. "We could pave a lot of streets for $190,000."

Concrete lasts longer than asphalt, but it takes longer to pave streets due to curing time. Concrete also can be more difficult to repair in the event of a water main break under the street.

Byrnes, who is chair of environment and public services, asked village staff to look more closely at the dollars involved in either approach before the board votes on the matter at its April 20 meeting.

"I think we'd like to do concrete, but we just have to feel good about it," he said.

As the prairie burns

ONCE UPON A TIME

Pre-Home Depot — In Sandy Williams' book, "Images of America — Hinsdale," she mentions the building which is still standing at 42 S. Washington St., which was built in 1894. "One of the area's first merchants, John Bohlander opened a grocery and tavern in Fullersburg before moving to Hinsdale in 1871. Here, he operated a general store at 42 S. Washington before his business turned to hardware in 1877. Shown is Bohlander's second building at this address, constructed in 1894 of Joliet limestone. The business eventually changed hands, but hardware was sold in this building for over 100 years."

Newcomers beat incumbents in District 86

Two pairs of running mates defeat three sitting board members for four open seats

By Pamela Lannom
plannom@thehinsdalean.com

Hinsdale's Jeff Waters, the top vote-getter among 10 candidates in the Hinsdale High School District 86 Board race, according to unofficial election results, said he is elated for all four winners in Tuesday's election.

"It's unfortunate that more seats weren't available, because there were a lot of quality candidates running," he said.

He sees the choice of four newcomers as indicative of voters' discontent with the current board. He and running mate Peggy James, along with Debbie Levinthal and Terri Walker, who also ran as a team, were elected Tuesday. All four are from Hinsdale.

None of the three incumbents — board President Kevin Camden and members TJ Edwards and Marty Turek — were re-elected.

"I think it was, to a certain extent, a mandate," Waters said.

Edwards, who was appointed to the board last year and came in fifth, said it was difficult being "lumped" in the category of incumbent.

"I tried as hard as I could to speak from my perspective and provide insight into how I think," she said. "It was just a struggle."

Waters and James, who earned the second-highest vote total, credited their message and their marketing with their success.

"I think we struck a chord with the community," James said. "I think we had great conversations with the community members we spoke with. I think our message resonated."

Walker said the same was true for her and Levinthal.

"It was great to have an opportunity to speak with many voters throughout the process and have lots of one-on-one conversations," she said. "I think our message about maintaining the high standards of academic excellence and support resonated with the voters."

Levinthal said she was excited and humbled to be elected.

"We had an outpouring of support from friends and neighbors in the community," she said. "I'm honored at the opportunity to serve."

She agreed the victory was related to the message shared throughout the campaign — "making sure we are doing all we can for all learners in District 86 and making sure they have all the opportunities and supports and tools they need to be successful."

Edwards, who will end up serving on the board for only nine months, said she will continue to be involved and serve on district committees as a parent.

"It just changes who sits in the seats, not the work we do as a district," she said. "I plan to be there and do everything I can to graciously support them in their transition."

The new candidates will be seated at a special May 3 reorganization meeting.

Kleber will continue to serve on D181 board for two years

Hinsdale Library Board winners, uncontested races listed

Margie Kleber won the race for a two-year term on the Community Consolidated District 181 Board, defeating challenger Christine Dannhausen-Brun.

Kleber, the current board president, said she felt confident going into Tuesday's vote.

"I was hearing really good things from a lot of people in the community," Kleber said, citing letters of support she received.

Her uncontested election to the board four years ago meant this was her first real campaign experience.

"I got to meet a lot of people. It forced me to really get out there," she remarked.

Kleber appreciated the affirmation from parents of current district students, who she knows "were watching things really closely this past year" due to pandemic issues.

She attributes her win to her collaborative approach as board president.

"When we disagree, it's important that we all be respectful of other people and listen and then engage in constructive discussion," Kleber said. "People may not like a decision, but they like the process, and I think that really resonates with them." She expects to continue trying to balance the needs of full in-person learners with fully remote students. Kleber is especially excited to work with incumbent Bill Cotter and newcomers Mike Martin and Grace Shin, the uncontested candidates for four-year terms.

"They're all really great, and they're all really independent thinkers," she commented. "I think we have a good, diverse group."

Dannhausen-Brun admitted to being "bummed" about the result, but accepting.

"The voters are looking for someone else right now, and that's OK," she said Wednesday morning.

But the mother of six took solace in the example she set for her family.

"It was great to have my kids see democracy at work and that it matters to get involved and be a part of the voice in the process," she commented.

Differences on the district's COVID-19 response were sharp, Dannhausen-Brun noted, and safety protocols unfortunately made it challenging to meet and hear directly from voters.

"The pandemic made it difficult to connect with voters and have the individual one-on-one conversations and let them get to know you," she said.

The fast-evolving landscaper, with the district shifting from a hybrid model in December to this week's return to full-time school, kept her on her toes.

"It's amazing how much can change in a few months," she said. "I wanted to make sure that people knew there are other issues (besides the pandemic) for the board to consider."

Running for elected office is "not for the faint of heart," she advised. She is considering alternative community service opportunities.

"Maybe there are other ways I need to contribute," she said.

Library, village races

In the Hinsdale Library Board race, incumbents Mary Bock, Amy Glynn and Kristin McDaniel were joined by challenger Richard Munson in winning seats. Ryan Trombly also vied for one of the four open spots on the board.

Tom Cauley, who ran uncontested, will remain the Hinsdale village president for the next four years.

Incumbents Neale Byres and Matt Posthuma and newcomer Michelle Fisher were elected to three open seats on the Hinsdale Village Board. They faced no opposition.

MEETING ROUNDUP

Hinsdale Village Board

Among other business Tuesday, trustees:

- unanimously approved spending up to $771,600 with Schaeffgas Brothers for improvements to the Hinsdale Community Pool. Phase 1 includes replacing the lap pool deck, repairing ground joints, replacing grout under the perimeter gutter and repainting the main pool. Phase 2 includes replacing four pool filters. The village received a $400,000 Open Space Lands Acquisition and Development Grant and is required to spend at least $800,000 on the project.

- voted 6-0 to approve an ordinance amending the village code related to the number of liquor licenses in the village to allow Nabuki to sell packaged liquor. Trustees also indicated they plan to support a liquor license request from Yia Yia's Cafe.

COVID-19 cases up just slightly in Hinsdale

Twenty-seven Hinsdale residents have tested positive for COVID-19 over the past week.

The DuPage County Health Department reported 26 new cases, and the Cook County Health Department reported 1 new case.

That brings the total number of reported cases in the village to 1,618, up from 1,591 last week.

Amita Hinsdale Hospital had six confirmed COVID-19 patients and no patients awaiting test results on Wednesday, a spokeswoman said.

Community Consolidated District 181 reported nine new cases from April 5-6, all of which involved students.

Hinsdale High School District 86 has not updated its numbers since March 26, as last week was spring break.

The rolling seven-day positivity rate for Region 8, which includes DuPage County, was 6.7 percent on Saturday, compared to 5.2 percent a week prior.

Illinois has administered almost 8 million doses of vaccines. An average of 106,9756 vaccines are being administered daily, compared to 105,040 last week. About 20 percent of DuPage County residents are fully vaccinated.

Junior board more than a pet project

New series examines the many ways youth are helping local nonprofit agencies thrive

By Ken Knutson

kknutson@thehinsdalean.com

■ BATTLE OF THE BOARDS

This is the first in a series profiling seven junior boards that serve Hinsdale nonprofits.

The community's rising generation has, in recent years, been stepping up into leadership roles with local nonprofit organizations through service on junior boards.

Seven junior boards in Hinsdale are currently working in partnership with The Hinsdalean on a seven-week food drive to benefit HCS Family Services (see the ad on Page 15.) The Hinsdalean will profile each over the next couple of months, leading off with the Hinsdale Humane Society Junior Board.

In early 2020 the board was organizing the Young Artist Night fundraiser at the Pet Rescue and Resource Center. But the grand plan was hitting up against the reality of limited means, revealed communications director Viviana Prado.

"We had to improvise, we had to make changes, we had to work around the clock with things that were happening," said Prado, a senior at Lemont High School.

One of those changes was using construction fencing as display stands instead of easels. The utilitarian vibe worked.

"I think it was one of the best events that I have seen," she said.

Jessie Wang, a senior at Hinsdale Central and the board's assistant secretary, remarked at the insight her four years on the board has afforded her.

"I really gained a better understanding of how nonprofits work and how the organization has to include all these moving parts to run smoothly," Wang said.

Fellow Central senior Sam Gonzales, digital/graphics director, noted that board responsibilities don't normally entail working directly with the shelter's animals. But seeing the fruit of their labor with a successful adoption is rewarding.

"I just think that's the sweetest thing in the world," Gonzales said. "The person adopting them is always so happy."

Prado was attracted to the humane society junior board's empowering partnership with teens.

"It was one of the only junior boards that allowed you to get involved without any sort of parental (involvement)," she said. "It could be just my responsibility."

The board is comprised of 29 members, according to Lauren Link, humane education program manager. As the staffer who oversees the group, Link said teens are able to apply their talents and ingenuity through the group.

"Young volunteers have the agency to use their individual skills and voices, execute their creative ideas and advocate for our mission to treat all animals with compassion," Link said, citing the various ways the board works to engage the wider community.

Last October the board brought Fright Fest to life, a COVID-friendly event that yielded an impressive turnout of costumed pets and families.

"It was really big, and it was a lot of fun, too," Gonzales said.

Madison Davis, board secretary and a junior St Ignatius College Prep, enjoys the diversity of the board.

"You really get to interact with a bunch of people from different age groups," she said. "It promotes a sense of community."

All four experienced the monumental move from the humane society's former small brick shelter on Symonds Drive to the new facility on Salt Creek Lane. The board also has been whittled down by dozens in the last couple of years, Wang said, to improve accountability.

"It's made planning events go a lot smoother because you'll know who will show up," Wang commented.

They all share a passion for animals as well as joy in seeing children develop a love for rescuing vulnerable potential pets by volunteering at the humane society's summer camp. Gonzales' four-legged family member even served as a camp therapy dog.

"I got to talk with the kids, get to know them a little bit," she said.

The board meets two Sundays a month. They help recruit and approve new members to make sure their ranks remain solid.

"We all want the same thing, which is essentially for the animals in the shelter to be taken care of," Prado said.

Their aptitude with social media is also an asset. Wang said the junior board even has its own Instagram account to reach the younger set.

Link said she was particularly impressed by the Young Artist Night's success.

"They reached out to hundreds of students in the area to display their animal-themed art," she said. "Thanks to their organizing efforts, we enjoyed a night of community and celebration of young people's artistic talents all in the name of helping homeless animals."

That's a big payoff, the four agreed.

"It's really cool to see all of that come together when we're planning these events," Prado said.

Davis said they want to be faithful stewards.

"I love being able to ensure that future generations are able to experience what we have been able to," she said.

POLICE BEAT

Hinsdale police distributed the following reports April 6.

Man arrested for DUI, battery

Charles C. Heimke, 24, 914 S. County Line Road, Hinsdale, was arrested for aggravated battery to a police officer; resisting, obstructing or disarming an officer; driving under the influence of alcohol, operating an uninsured motor vehicle, other traffic offenses and leaving the scene of a property damage accident at 2:21 a.m. April 4 at South County Line Road and East 57th Street. Police found the suspect's vehicle at his residence after he fled the scene of an accident. He was uncooperative, became physical with the officers and continued to resist arrest.

DUI arrest

Elenzia Booker, 34, 9022 S. Mackinaw Ave., Chicago was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol, driving too fast for conditions or failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident at 2:11 a.m. April 3 in the 100 block of East Ogden Avenue. Police observed a disabled vehicle with heavy front-end damage and the suspect, who appeared to be under the influence of alcohol. Booker was charged and released to appear in court.

Products stolen from Walgreens

An employee of Walgreens, 15 Grant Square, reported a suspect placing skincare products in a shopping bag at 4:29 p.m. April 1. The suspect is described as a white male, about 5 feet 10 inches tall and wearing a black jacket, blue jeans and a black face mask.

Vandals target street signs, road

- Stickers were permanently affixed to signs on the northwest and southwest corner of the intersection of 55th and Grant streets sometime before March 30. Police notified the DuPage County Highway Department of the defaced signs.
- Vandals used red paint to spray graffiti on South Washington Street at East 57th Street sometime before April 1. The village's public works department was notified to remove the paint.

Fraud, deception, identity theft reported

- A resident of the 600 block of Claymoor reported being contacted by someone claiming to be with Amazon security, who advised the victim of fraudulent activity on their Amazon account and said a "ghost account" should be created and linked to a bank account to accept a wire transfer. The victim confirmed with the bank that there was no fraudulent activity involving Amazon. The report was filed at 10 a.m. March 31.
- A resident of the 600 block of West Fourth Street reported being the victim of check fraud between March 3 and April 1. The banking institution has been contacted for reimbursement.
- Someone claiming to be with Uber Technical Support contacted a resident of the 700 block of Chestnut Street and advised the victim of adding a monetary COVID-19 benefit to the account by adding a credit card number. The victim discovered $226.67 was withdrawn. The incident was reported at 1:10 p.m. April 4.
- A resident of the 200 block of Justina St. reported at 6:25 p.m. March 30 that someone applied for unemployment benefits using his information.

Property damage reported

Someone broke the exterior glass pane on the front door of a home in the 400 block of South Park Avenue between April 4-5.

*Arrests do not constitute conviction of a crime, and individuals listed here should be presumed innocent until proven guilty. ### Those grieving invited by resident to step into healing

Several years ago Hinsdale's Christine Marzullo was at Robbins Park, taking pictures of her then-2-year-old son as he spun with delight as only a toddler can.

A close look at her shots revealed a stunning image.

"My dad's picture, that we had used with his funeral, was in the sun's rays," Marzullo related.

It was a sign, she believed, that the village should play host to an event helping people process their bereavement. Years later that vision has materialized as the Memory Mile from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday at Robbins Park (see Page 32 for details).

"I wanted a way to bring everyone together in their grief and also inspire them to find a new relationship with the people who passed away," Marzullo said.

Participants pause at different "reflection stops" along the course with prompts like "birth" and "life." Marzullo encourages them to carry photos, posters or wear tribute clothing to represent their loved one.

"I wanted it to be uplifting but also like a journey," she said. "It's going to be a little bit emotional for some people to revisit these stages of people's lives."

The closing will be a release of balloons, which walkers will have collected along the way. A live artist also will be creating works of the event.

"I just think with spring and new life coming, it's just a good, inspiring time to do it," Marzullo commented.

Her father, Jim Cantalupo, was chairman and CEO of McDonald's Corp. at the time of his unexpected death April 19, 2004, at age 60. Devastated but eager to support others in mourning, she began working with hospitals and other organizations on ways to commiserate, calling her mission Together at Peace.

"With grief, it's such a sensitive topic," she said. "It doesn't really get easier. You just find new ways to feel closer to your loved ones that passed away."

Marzullo said regular acts of remembrance comfort her.

"I feel like he's even stronger when his spirit is around me," she said.

But she acknowledged that many are reluctant to share too much of their grief with others.

"You feel like you can't talk about them or say their name after a certain time because it makes people uncomfortable," Marzullo said.

Restrictions on traditional memorial services due to the pandemic have been a double blow, and she hopes people's freedom to express their pain will be therapeutic.

"You can go walk a mile and think of whomever you've lost and just feel inspired and connected with nature," she said.

Marzullo initially wondered if anyone would show up. She's heartened that dozens have. The St. Isaac Jogues Church parishioner said it's also meaningful for her that the walk falls on Divine Mercy Sunday according to her faith tradition. All are welcome.

"It'll be different for everybody," she said.

‘Battle of the Boards’ food drive has dual purpose

A good idea is a good idea.

So we don’t mind that the “Battle of the Boards” food drive — launching this week to benefit HCS Family Services — originally was suggested by one of our Reader Advisory Board members, Rich Ciccarone.

Nor do we mind that the initial concept was improved upon with input first from HCS Executive Director Amy Wickstrom and then from the adults who work with the participating junior boards in town.

This collaboration has resulted in an exciting initiative — a seven-week food drive that officially kicks off this week with a collection at the Hinsdale Humane Society Tuthill Pet Rescue & Resource Center (see the ad on Page 15 for details).

When we first approached Wickstrom, we wanted to create a food drive that would engage the whole community, and thought about partnering with an individual entity. Working with junior boards proved to be an even better idea. Some of the responsibilities that typically are handled by junior board members — such as planning fundraising events — are on hold due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

As we talked, we also realized that organizing the food drive in this way would give us the chance to let readers know about each of the junior boards in conjunction with the drive. We will profile one junior board on Page 7 each Thursday before that group’s collection effort.

Drives over the next six weekends will be led by junior boards from the Hinsdale Hospital Foundation, The Community House, the Hinsdale Junior Woman’s Club, HCS, Infant Welfare Society and the Hinsdale Historical Society.

To create a little friendly competition, The Hinsdalean is donating two full pages of ads to the winning junior board, which they can use to publicize an upcoming event. We also will make a $1,000 donation to HCS Family Services in their name.

With all of our excitement about working with the junior boards, we can’t forget how dire the need for food is right now.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, as many as 42 million people might face hunger in this country, including more than 13 million children. In DuPage County alone, there are 55,070 people experiencing food insecurity.

HCS has seen a 170 percent increase in need since the onset of the pandemic. Many of these people are first-time visitors who never expected they would need assistance, but now do. Those clients visit HCS at one of its two food pantries. One is located in the Memorial Building at 19 E. Chicago Ave., and the second is a school-based pantry at the Anne M. Jeans School in Willowbrook. The pantries serve residents in Hinsdale and 24 neighboring towns.

This “Battle of the Boards” food drive is a unique invitation for residents to accomplish two things at once — support the junior board members who are working hard to make a difference in this community and help feed the hungry. We can’t wait to see the response!

Trip to Universal starts adventure of a lifetime

My memories of taking Ainsley to Disney World when she was 5 are magical.

We rode many wonderful rides, met many princesses and ate dinner at Cinderella’s castle, with Ainsley dressed as a perfect miniature of the palace owner. We picked a week when attendance was historically low and never waited more than 40 minutes in line.

We had a slightly different experience over spring break when we visited a crowded Universal Studios and its Islands of Adventure.

I usually don’t travel over spring break and certainly hadn’t planned on doing so during the pandemic. But these circumstances were unusual. I’m adopted and last fall discovered my half-sister, Chris, and birth parents (that is a story for another day). We wanted to visit my birth father, Bob, and his wife, Shari, before temps in Florida hit triple digits this summer.

We decided to spend a day at a theme park, and I eagerly suggested Universal with one thing in mind: Harry Potter World.

The trick with Harry Potter World is that you have to go to Universal Studios to experience Diagon Alley and Islands of Adventure to visit Hogsmeade. The plus is you get to ride the very fun Hogwarts Express from one park to the other. The downside is you need to spring for the higher-priced, two-park ticket. Bob, a Harry Potter neophyte, agreed to the plan.

So the seven of us (Chris and her husband, Ken, came, too) arrived at Universal on a gorgeous, sunny day and headed to Diagon Alley. The warning sign outside Harry Potter and the Escape from Gringotts listed too many reasons why many of our group members should not ride, so we bowed out. Fortunately, the line for the “wand experience” at Ollivanders was just around the corner, so we joined the queue.

Pamela Lannom

Two hours and more than $200 later (after various family members purchased a Gryffindor sweatshirt, Bertie Bott’s Every Flavored Beans, a chocolate frog, taffy, a strawberry sundae, a phone case, three masks and two Butterbeers), we found ourselves at the door. A kind gentleman invited us inside, where we had to wait only a little longer to get into the actual shop.

Finally, we were led to a dimly lit room, which left Ainsley a little uneasy. She tried one wand, but it did not perform as instructed. The second one failed her as well. Then a third — made of ash with a Phoenix feather core — was taken out for a try. The wand chooses the wizard, as all Harry Potter fans know, and this one chose Ainsley.

We all agreed that the experience was pretty cool. Then we left the room to get in line in the gift shop, where we were able to obtain said wand for only $59.99.

I loved seeing Ainsley get her wand, eating in the Leaky Cauldron (just as cool as I had hoped it would be) and watching the Gringotts dragon roar and breathe fire every 10 minutes while we waited in line for Ollivanders.

Did we have the same magical experience at Universal Studios and Islands of Adventure that we had at Disney? No — in part because Ainsley is 12, not 5. Also, the theme park was something for us to do as we all got to know each other better, not the sole focus of the trip.

So perhaps a better question to ask is did we have an adventure? Absolutely. A fabulous one. And it’s just beginning.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Multi-tasking can lead to insanity

It started out like an ordinary Thursday.

Although now that I think of it, I actually remember feeling like it was a particularly peaceful weekday morning. The boys got up and to school on time, well fed and happy; I remembered to pack my daughter's show-and-tell treasures before dropping her at preschool. The beds were made, teeth brushed, dishes put away. I patted myself on the back for doing such a good job with the morning routine as I stopped for coffee before I headed back to volunteer in the school library.

As I parked my car — in a great spot, I might add — I left a message with my doctor to inquire about something routine. Then I called my husband to ask about a scheduling issue. The whole time, mind you, I was amazing myself with my organizational prowess, my ability to accomplish so much in one small morning.

I stood in line at Starbucks, ordered coffee for myself and the librarians at school and paid. When I reached the cream/sugar/sweetener stand, I realized I had forgotten how the librarians took their coffee. So I dialed the school directory and as I waited to be connected to the right extension, I grabbed my keys and checked my purse for my cell phone.

My cell phone was not in my purse. I take my phone with me everywhere, in case of emergencies. So I went to the counter and asked around — did I possibly leave my phone there? The other customers looked sympathetically at me, and the woman behind the counter looked thoroughly before telling me the bad news: no cell phone to be found.

Just as I headed back to the creamer station, I was connected to the librarian's extension at school. I was a few sentences into my coffee question before I realized with horror that I had found my cell phone, and it had been in my hand, at my ear, the whole time. While I looked in my purse. While I checked the counter. While I asked the customers. Oh my God.

Yes, I had made the beds, tidied the house, clarified our schedules, even fed my children — but in the process I had LOST MY MIND.

Dazed, I poured cream into all the coffees, walked back to my car, and realized this: I should not attempt to be an organizational goddess. I do not have to, indeed should not attempt to, multi-task at every turn. What is it about me that makes me want to accomplish five things at once? Clearly, I am not up to that challenge.

In retrospect, it is horrifying to think that that particular Thursday seemed rather idyllic. I can see now that I was being a freakish type-A "gotta cross things off the to-do list" kind of person. So now I am working at focusing on one thing at a time.

First on that streamlined to-do list? Switching to decaf.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Shin, a former teacher, will be great on D181 Board

Congratulations to Grace Shin, a fellow community member and mother of three children in the district who was elected to the D181 School Board Tuesday.

Grace has a background in education with a master's in education from the University of Michigan as well as seven years of teaching experience. Grace has served on multiple steering committees working with curriculum framework development and was lead writer of the first grade Language Arts curriculum in her previous district.

Grace's involvement with D181 over the past six years has included service on D181 Learning Committee, Academic Success Committee and Parent Teacher Advisory Committee. Grace also served as Oak School PTO president and chaired nine separate PTO committees. Grace has been a part of academic conversations over the last few years having seen transitions through from her first year on the learning committee five years ago to her current seat on the ASC. Grace is passionate about maintaining stability within the DOL as well as helping the district make good forward progress based on data-driven decisions to benefit all students.

Grace is a woman of high integrity, and she is passionate about students and how they will shape the future. We trust that her care and passion as well as her experience in working with students and families from all backgrounds and academic strengths will give her wonderful insight and wisdom as a school board member. — Katie Stromberg, Denys Kang and Jenny Boots

Arline "Nonie" Kern

Arline Ward Kern, known most fondly as Nonie, passed away peacefully of natural causes March 15, 2021 at the age of 90.

Nonie was born in 1930 in Hinsdale. The family included her parents, Barbara Skelly and John Mackenzie Ward, and her two sisters, Barbara and Vickie.

Nonie earned her bachelor's degree from the University of Colorado at Boulder. She worked as an advertising executive until marrying her life partner of more than 50 years, Herbert Arthur Kern, on May 14, 1955, in Hinsdale. Nonie and Herb Kern retired to Big Sky, Mont., in 1979, embodying great foresight and a pioneering spirit to settle in the small ski town in its infancy.

Each summer, Nonie and family traveled to northern Minnesota to their beloved lake house retreat on Lake Vermillion in Cook. Establishing a family summer tradition for years and generations to come, Nonie's lake adventures included picnics, water skiing, sunset cruises and cooking for her family. During the snowy winter months, Nonie and Herb were frequently visited at their Big Sky home by their children and grandchildren, seeking skiing adventures together and wilderness escapes, all while creating lasting family memories.

With an insatiable appetite for adventure and activity, she enjoyed playing tennis and golf, hiking, riding horses on pack trips and traveling the world, never slowing until the very end.

Nonie had a contagious, energetic spirit and an inclusive attitude toward others. Her generosity and humor were infectious, brightening the lives of all she came in contact with. Her family was of utmost importance to her, as she prioritized the needs of her husband, children, and grandchildren above her own.

Nonie is survived by her six children, John (Susie) Kern, Julie (Ray) Williamson, David Kern, Tom (Sheryl) Kern, Susie (Chris) Reaney and Chip (Stephanie) Kern; her grandchildren; her great-grandchildren; her sister-in-law, Anne Kern; her brother-in-law, Bill DeFuniak; and several nieces and nephews.

A private family service was held March 19.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made online to the National Pancreatic Cancer Foundation at <https://www.pancreaticcancer.org>, in honor of her late husband, Herbert Kern.

William W. Morrison Jr.

William "Bill" W. Morrison Jr., 73, of Hinsdale, passed away on April 1, 2021.

Bill was born in 1947 to Marcella Ruth and W. Wendell Morrison Sr. of Frankfort. After graduating from Lincoln-Way High School, he attended Colorado State University, and graduated in 1970 with a degree in industrial construction management.

Bill went on to pursue a career in sales and marketing with The Ceco Corp. for almost 20 years. He also served on his local community board, and in his leisure time, he was an avid skier and golfer and enjoyed travel and adventures.

Bill is survived by his wife of 32 years, Nancy Joan Morrison; his sister, Constance Cay (James Lee) Koons; and many beloved nieces, nephews and extended family.

Services will be held privately. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to a charity of choice.

Hallowell & James Funeral Home handled the arrangements.

CENTRAL ARTISTS CHOSEN FOR EXHIBIT

Samara Jaquez and Cadence Parker-Briones from Hinsdale Central will join other top student artists from across the state at the ninth annual Illinois High School Art Exhibition Senior Scholarships Announced event, which will be held virtually April 11.

Students will come together to showcase their work and be recognized for their accomplishments.

To date, Jaquez and Parker-Briones have received more than $368,000 in scholarships for their portfolios.

STUDENTS MAKE DEAN'S LIST

Several Hinsdale students earned a place on the dean's list for the fall 2020 semester at the University of Illinois-Champaign.

They are Anisha Atluri, Shalini Atluri, Mia Balice, Pin Chen, Robert Cremin, Rachel Dannhausen-Brun, Hrishikesh Deshmukh, Daniella Di Stefano, Anna Ellithorpe, Kayleigh Excell, Abigail Fuller, Tina Guo, Kayleigh Hester, Bahda Hoang, Michael Hu, Colin Lane, Edric Lin, Ethan Lin, Anna Lowery, Thomas Lyne, Ammaar Malik, Abdullah Mubarik, Fatima Mubarik, Rayan Nehme, Omorewo Oshe, Bridget Owens, Alyssa Pavich, Lindsay Peters, Kalista Prame, Olivia Randell, Kaitlin Ratcliff, Will Rivera, Anastasia Sakkos, Brian Schwab, Stefan Sokolowski, Jackson Stermer, Mitchell Stermer, Grace Varan, Eric Wan and Ryan Yapp.

ADVENTIST GROUP DONATES FOOD

The Hinsdale Adventist Pathfinders collected 120 bags of food weighing 2,184 pounds on March 20, Global Youth Day, for the HCS Family Services food pantry.

"The community really responded and at least one-third of the bags were returned the next day," said Heidi Vyhmeister, Pathfinder director. "This was twice the number we usually get in our annual fall collection, which we could not do last year due to the COVID precautions. We're so grateful for all the donations and the generosity of the residents."

The Pathfinders are youth of the Hinsdale Seventh-day Adventist Church. On the same day, younger Pathfinders did yard cleanups at the church and the Seventh-day Adventist Academy grounds.

BETH GREIFENKAMP, ART ENTHUSIAST

Why is that dinosaur in your front lawn?

Whether it's referred to as the big purple dinosaur, Madame Butterfly or the beastie, the whimsical sculpture that adorns the front lawn of Beth Greifenkamp's Hinsdale home is known to all who have the pleasure of passing by.

"It's literally a landmark," said Greifenkamp, who refers to the winged creature as "the beastie." Greifenkamp had long admired the work of Milwaukee artist Dennis Pearson when he teamed up with the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra back in 2002 for a fundraiser that involved the sale of decorated "beasties." Greifenkamp was determined to make one her own, and after several failed auction bids, the purple creature became hers.

Decorated in the theme of "Madame Butterfly," the 5-foot-tall sculpture proved to be the perfect addition to the perennial garden at Greifenkamp's Wisconsin home.

"I'd look at her outside the kitchen window," she said.

Since then her beloved beastie has made its way to California, where she claimed most of the room on Greifenkamp's "teeny tiny little patio," and then to Hinsdale, where the violet-hued work of art caught the eye of passersby on Justina for several years before making her way to her current home on Madison.

It wasn't long after Greifenkamp moved that she was reminded just how iconic the beastie had become. While at work, she received a call from the Hinsdale Police Department. Unaware that Greifenkamp had moved across town, a patrol officer noticed the creature was missing from her usual place on Justina and called to make sure she hadn't fallen into the wrong hands.

Greifenkamp said that call reaffirmed her love of the quiet suburb she calls home — and that town's love for her oversized lawn ornament.

"I get questions about her all the time," said Greifenkamp. She receives notes in her mailbox inquiring about the sculpture, and curious passersby have been known to knock on her door from time to time. This winter, as Greifenkamp shoveled her way out of a snowstorm, a woman stopped and got out of her car.

Greifenkamp assumed she was there to complain about her car being parked in the street, but the nature of her visit was complimentary. She simply stopped to tell Greifenkamp that the creature makes her smile.

Greifenkamp said she hopes her beloved art acquisition has that effect on all who pass by.

The beastie often reflects what is going on in the world and in Greifenkamp's own life. Situated just blocks from Hinsdale Central High School, the beastie dons her Red Devils fan attire before big games. And when Greifenkamp's son suffered a football injury that required the use of crutches, the beastie got crutches, too.

"We dress her up for Halloween," Greifenkamp said, and she is festooned with a wreath at Christmastime.

The whimsical beastie is just a preview of the home's interior, where Greifenkamp said lots of color and a variety of textures reflect her character.

"I have equally quirky art inside my house," she said.

Midwest winters have been tough on the beastie. But Greifenkamp said a fresh coat of paint will have her ready for another busy summer of admirers, picture takers and curious passersby.

Earth Day is occasion to boost understanding of, support for planet

By Ken Knutson

kknutson@thehinsdalean.com

Earth Day is Thursday, April 22, but globe-loving programs are taking place all month in the area to encourage ecological stewardship at home. May these help sow the seeds of nurturing nature.

- Residents are invited to register with Hinsdale's parks and recreation department for Park Clean-Up Day on Thursday, April 22. Individuals of all ages, Scout groups, churches, businesses and service organizations can give back by helping spruce up the village's parks from 4 p.m. to dusk. Projects will include planting, painting, debris removal and more. Individuals and/or groups may request a specific park to work at. They also are invited to donate plants. Visit <https://www.villageof-hinsdale.org/pr>.

- The Brookfield Zoo will hold its annual Earth Day: A Party for the Planet from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, April 24. Visitors will learn steps anyone can take to make a difference for animals across the globe. In the north parking lot off 31st Street, a waste recycling event will take place from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The zoo will collect electronics, textiles and used books, among other items. Representatives from the zoo and its partnering organizations will collect items for recycling as cars come through. A full list of acceptable items is available online at <https://www.czs.org/partyplanet>.

- Fittingly, close on the heels of Earth Day is Arbor Day, planted on April 30. In observance, Morton Arboretum is presenting the online program "Growing Equity through Planting Trees" from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 28. This panel discussion will explore how to form effective partnerships between communities of color and tree planting organizations to help improve tree canopy in the places that need it most. Panelists will share the benefits that trees provide; discuss how to form transformational partnerships that empower community members in decisions, planting, and care; and share examples of successful collaborations with community tree planting efforts. Following the panel, join the conversation by participating in a small-group break-out room to discuss real-world strategies for increasing equity and tree cover through successful community partnerships. The program is free, but a donation of $10 to $25 is suggested. Register at <https://www.mortonarb.org> or by calling (630) 719-2468.

The Naperville-based Conservation Foundation is hosting several programs in observance of Earth Day. More details and registration is available at <https://www.theconservationfoundation.org>.

- Learn to use kitchen scraps and yard waste to create rich, beautiful compost for the garden in the Zoom webinar Composting 101 from 1 to 2 p.m. Wednesday, April 14. Different types of compost bins, including worm bins, will be discussed, covering what goes in them and how to maintain them. The program is free but registration is required.

- The Earth Day benefit Family Adventures on the Farm is from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 18, at McDonald Farm in Naperville.

Visitors will learn step by step how to plan for, start and take care of seedlings along with gaining an understanding of the role flowers and seeds play in keeping nature and kids healthy. The program is for families with children from pre-K to junior high. Groups are limited to two families per time slot, and masks are required when in the Children's Gardens. Select an arrival time when registering and plan to stay 45 minutes or longer to explore the Children's Sensory Garden and Lenore's Backyard Farm Garden, as well as the native prairie, woodland, and wetlands. The cost is $25 per family. A Family Adventure session also will be livestreamed on the foundation's Facebook page.

- Hear what residents can do to protect local water quality in the Zoom webinar Doing Your Part for Earth Day from 1 to 2 p.m. Wednesday, April 21. The program is free but registration is required.

- The monthlong Earth Day celebration will reach its crescendo at Earth Day Benefit LIVE! from 6 to 9 p.m. Thursday, April 22.

Gather in person for an outdoor cocktail party at Bobak's

Signature Events in Woodridge or for the livestreamed event at home around the fire pit or living room. Virtual participants can purchase a campfire pack of cozy treats delivered right to their door. The benefit includes musical celebrations of the light of nature by Redhorse, Zazz, Pat Moynihan and the Bree Gordon Band; conservation award presentations; drinks and hors d'oeuvres; and a raffle and silent auction. In-person attendees will be limited to 50; they must wear masks and observe social distancing. Tickets (limited to four per purchaser) are $125 for the in-person event, $100 for virtual ticket with a campfire pack and $50 for a virtual ticket.

- The online Glen Ellyn Earth Day Symposium from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 25, will offer actionable ideas for improving the environment in 2021 from one's own backyard. Speakers include representatives from The Conservation Foundation, Morton Arboretum, Groot Recycling & Waste Connections and more. The event, sponsored by the Glen Ellyn Park District and the Glen Ellyn Environmental Commission, is free but registration is required.

Kids ages 3-9 will learn about financial responsibility while doing crafts, playing games and singing songs during the virtual Piggy Bank Pageant April 13. See Page 30 for details. (photo provided)

Kitchen Walk Luncheon goes social this year

The Hinsdale Historical Society is taking to social media this month to bring timeless design inspiration to Hinsdale, culminating in its virtual luncheon, "Making Old, New Again" on Friday, May 7.

Nationally recognized designers — including Summer Thornton, Sarah Vaile, Lauren Ashley Allan and Kelly Hurliman — will provide custom content via the society's social media channels through May 7 to discuss design trends and lasting interior décor.

In preparation for the luncheon, supporters are encouraged to purchase raffle tickets online for a twice weekly chance to win coveted items. Donated items from local business, including Sweet William and Megan Hickman Design, as well as renowned interior designers and artists, like Mark D. Sikes, Kara Mann, Paloma Contreras and others, will be raffled off to support the society.

"Raising money for the Hinsdale Historical Society has been quite the challenge over the last year," said Kristen Laakso, president. "We had to cancel the popular Hinsdale Cooks! Kitchen Walk in 2020. That was devastating for our finances and morale.

However, our creative members have risen to the challenge and designed a virtual luncheon."

The society's luncheon, held annually prior to COVID-19, has served as a cornerstone event, second to the Hinsdale Cooks! Kitchen Walk, raising much-needed funds to enable the society to maintain and protect Immanuel Hall, The Hinsdale History Museum and the R. Harold Zook Home & Studio. The nonprofit also offers regular educational programs and operates the Roger and Ruth Anderson Architecture Center inside Immanuel Hall.

"So many people in town look forward to the Friday before Mother's Day because for the last 15 years, it has signified the Kitchen Walk," said Hope Lloyd Brown, who is co-chairing the event with her sister, Sarah Zielke. "With that same spirit in mind, we are encouraging people to celebrate friendship and beautiful design in honor of one of our town's favorite fundraisers."

On the day of the event, all are encouraged to host a luncheon in their own home. Smaller groups of friends can come together, set their tables, and post photos of their own kitchens and homes while having online access to a short program as well as a grand prize raffle drawing. Take-home meals will be provided by Paul Virant of Vistro Prime.

To become a Kitchen Walk Luncheon Ambassador or to purchase individual tickets ($75 per person) or raffle tickets, please visit <https://www.kitchen-walk.com>.

Walk for Wellness House

This year, Walk For Wellness House event goers will have the choice of embarking on a one-mile walk (or a 10 step walk) in town or in the forest to help support the nonprofit at its annual fundraiser.

On May 2, during 60-minute reserved time slots, guests can enjoy the Walk at Wellness House, 131 N. County Line Road, which is the event's traditional start/end point. Or they can participate in the Walk in the Woods at forest preserves in Cook and DuPage Counties. And like last year, the Walk Your Way option is available to encourage participants to walk in a location of their choice to ensure social distancing.

The event's goal is to raise $550,000 this year. However, Molly Haunty, who is co-chairing the event with Lori Naccarato, said that the goal is really to foster a sense of community to those impacted by cancer.

"Most importantly, the goal is to rally as a community to support those impacted by cancer: groups in costume, kids and parents pushing strollers, friends walking or friends running," Haunty said. "Wellness House's vision is a community where all people affected by cancer thrive — not just live, but thrive — and that positive energy is so apparent in the sea of community members flooding the streets in support of those impacted by cancer."

For more information, visit <https://www.wellnesshouse.org>.

Our Clients Say It Best

"Duong Kim Global has handled several transactions for me, from small investment properties in the West Loop to my primary residence in Burr Ridge to a 6-unit apartment building in Glenview. With nearly 15 years of experience, Amy put together a team of agents, lenders, and attorneys who have done so many deals together that they just get it done--with minimal burden on the client. If there's a way to keep a deal alive, they will find it. Add to that a masterful negotiator and you've got a real estate dream team. The people who look for commission kickbacks or look to Redfin don't know how valuable this is. Every deal is different and has its own series of potential pitfalls. A good team can salvage deals that would otherwise fall apart and can save you way more than any commission discount offered by less experienced agents. If that weren't enough, the team joined Compass which is like the Tesla of real estate--the way they leverage technology to give clients the best tools for buying/selling real estate most efficiently frankly puts other brokers to shame."

- Dale C

"I'm so glad I decided to work with Duong Kim Global on the sale of my house! They are intelligent, trustworthy, love their jobs, and are so much fun to work with. Their knowledge of the real estate market is really comprehensive, I got a price and a deal I was happy with, and felt completely taken care of with every decision. I'm going to recommend the team to anyone I know in Chicago looking to sell (or buy) a home!"

- Erin R

"We recently bought a house in Naperville with Duong Kim Global and could not have been more pleased with the outstanding service we received! The team is very knowledgeable about the area (which was invaluable given that we moved from out of state), they were incredibly attentive and responsive, and helped us find the perfect house! If you are in the market to buy or sell in the Chicago area, I would not hesitate to recommend Amy and her team!"

SUMMER CAMPS

ANIMAL CAMPS

■ All Abilities Animal Friends Camp

Every other Friday, June 11-Aug. 6
Tuthill Family Pet Rescue and Resource Center
21 Salt Creek Lane, Hinsdale
<https://www.hinsdalehumane-society.org>
(630) 323-5630

This Hinsdale Humane Society camp is designed for children ages 6 to 12, especially those with developmental and cognitive disabilities. Due to COVID-19 limitations, spots are reserved first for children with such disabilities. Any remaining spots can be filled by children without disabilities. Campers will be provided with an array of activities that will encourage them to get active, express their creativity and share their emotions. Register for all five sessions or pick and choose. Please email lauren.link@hinsdalehumane-society.org with questions about the camp, including cost, or to register. Masks are required if campers are indoors due to inclement weather. Time: 10 a.m. to noon.

DAY CAMPS

■ Zion Early Childhood Summer Camp

June 14-Aug. 2
204 S. Grant St., Hinsdale
<https://www.zionhinsdale.org>
(630) 323-0384

Zion Early Childhood Education center is offering eight one-week sessions of summer camp for 2 1/2- to 6-year-olds. Campers participate in theme-based activities that are appropriate for the child's age group, including games, music, outdoor exploration, creative art, language arts, Jesus time, snack and free-choice time. Sign up for two days a week, full weeks or all eight weeks. The camp day can be extended to 2 p.m. with "Munch a Lunch and a Bunch of Fun." Jump Into Summer programs are offered from June 1-11; see website for details. Time: 9 a.m. to noon. Cost: $37 a day for morning session, $29 more to extend day (including lunch).

MUSICAL THEATER CAMPS

■ 'Seussical' Musical Theater Camp

Weekdays, June 7-18
First United Methodist Church
4330 Howard Ave., Western Springs
<https://www.musicmakersstudio.com>
(708) 246-8222

Music Makers is offering this intensive musical theater experience for children in kindergarten through eighth grade. Auditions are by appointment from 3 to 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 2. Visit the website listed above. Performances are at 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, June 18-19, on the front porch of Music Makers, 4332 Howard Ave., Western Springs. Rehearsal times: noon to 2:30 p.m. for Cast A, 2:30 to 5 p.m. for Cast B. Tuition: $400.

■ BAM Broadway Workshop Series

June 14-Aug. 14
<https://ticketpeak.co/bam/classes>

This is the perfect summer camp for any kid who has a theatrical side. Each camp session offers a unique show and is skillfully designed for a specific age group. Students will learn the foundational practices for musical theater — singing, acting and dance. Each session culminates with a final performance so each student gets to shine. Rehearsals and performances will take place at a location in the Hinsdale or Clarendon Hills area. Openings remain for Broadway Tots! "Peter Pan" (9 to 9:45 a.m. June 28-July 2 for ages 2 to 5), "SpongeBob Musical" (10 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 12-17 for ages 7 to 13) and "BWS Jedi Masters" (19 a.m. to 1 p.m. or 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. July 26-31 for ages 8 to 15). Cost: $75 for Broadway Tots, $255 plus fees for other camps.

■ CTWS 'The Little Mermaid' Summer Camp

June 28-July 9

Theatre of Western Spring
4384 Hampton Ave.
<https://www.theatreofwesternsprings.com>

Kids in kindergarten through seventh grade will present this Disney classic. COVID-19 protocols will be practiced. Final performances will be filmed on the last day of camp. Additional sessions will be offered July 12-23 and July 26-Aug. 6. Times: 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Cost: $400.

■ CTWS 'Something Rotten' Summer Camp

July 5-23
Theatre of Western Springs
4384 Hampton Ave.
(708) 246-4043
<https://www.theatreofwesternsprings.com>

Kids who will enter seventh grade this year through those who have completed high school will enjoy performing in this Broadway hit. The final performance will be filmed on the last day of camp. Sessions are limited to 50 people (campers and staff) and masks will be required. Times: 2 to 6 p.m. Cost: $500.

S.T.E.M. CAMPS

HOROSCOPES

April 2021 Horoscopes • Week 2

CAPRICORN

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20
Capricorn, as tedious as research can be, it is ultimately necessary if you are planning a big move or a change in your financial situation. Seek professional advice, if necessary.

ARIES

ARIES – Mar 21/Apr 20
Aries, if you feel like every day is the same thing, then figure out a way to add some spark to the week. Invite friends for an adventure or embrace a new hobby.

CANCER

CANCER – Jun 22/Jul 22
Don't pressure yourself into taking on more than you can handle, Cancer. Even though you may feel up to the challenge, there's no shame in accepting help.

LIBRA

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23
Financial uncertainty has you rethinking things this week, Libra. Just be sure you are not being pennywise but dollar foolish. Make cuts across the board.

AQUARIUS

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18
Aquarius, some details are still up in the air about a potential trip or adventure. But that doesn't mean you can't get excited about the prospects.

TAURUS

TAURUS – Apr 21/May 21
Taurus, find ways to entertain your family and yourself without breaking the bank. Recreational centers and parks are often free and have many possibilities.

LEO

LEO – Jul 23/Aug 23
Leo, this week you may find yourself looking inward, which is not necessarily the norm for you. Try connecting with others as it may do you some good.

SCORPIO

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22
Scorpio, when another person confides in you, it is up to you to keep his or her secret, unless you believe doing so would be harmful to that person. Maintain your trustworthy reputation.

PISCES

PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20
Pisces, if you are being too critical of yourself, change your way of thinking. Others do not view you in the same manner.

GEMINI

GEMINI – May 22/Jun 21
Gemini, explore more creative pursuits in the days to come. You can find many great ideas and starter kits for arts and crafts projects at your local craft store.

VIRGO

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22
A new relationship could start this week, Virgo. Don't try to put on airs; just be yourself and you will likely find that everything will work out for the best.

SAGITTARIUS

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21
Sagittarius, don't rush ahead on a project, even if you think you are ready to move forward. Give it a few more days of careful consideration before diving right in.

Girls are sixth at historic state meet

the No. 2 doubles team of Maddie Maduzia and Alley Yang won their first round before losing to a what Maley described as a “sleeper” Libertyville team in the second round.

“Historically Libertyville doesn’t have an amazing program,” Maley said. “They were really good.”

In the consolation bracket, Maduzia and Yang went on to beat their next three opponents before losing a close match to New Trier’s Devlin Guthrie and Grace Yoon 17-21, 18-21.

“They had a great record all year — they only lost once all season,” Maley said. “I knew they were going to do really well at the state tournament. I also knew they were going to face some really hard times.”

Sophomore Jessica Han made it to the fourth round in No. 1 singles play.

“I was very happy she made it to the fourth round and I know she will be back for her junior and senior year and she will continue to make a name for herself and carry on the Han tradition for her family,” Maley said, referencing Jessica’s older sister, Angela, who helped the team place fifth at state two years ago.

Maley praised No. 2 singles player Anya Shah, who played No. 10 singles two years ago as a sophomore, despite a first-round loss to a player from Fremd.

“That was a really hard first match right out of the gate,” Maley said. “She did awesome. She’s a smart player. She really doesn’t give up.”

Shah rebounded to win the first round of the singles consolation bracket (bottom half) before losing to a Stevenson opponent.

Maley said she was pleased to win sectionals and qualify her two singles players and two doubles teams for state.

“I was unsure what this season was going to look like,” she said. “It ended up being an awesome season. I am so happy we got to go to the state tournament. Six out of 56 in a weird COVID year is pretty good.

“We are the first in-person state tournament that happened in over a year,” she added. “That was a pretty cool statistic, and I was pretty happy to be part of that.”

The pandemic did prevent spectators from attending the tournament. Berti said she and McCain were able to stay energized during their matches even if fans were not filling the bleachers.

“We had our teammates cheering from the sidelines the whole time and that definitely helped keep our morale up — and Coach Maley, she was there, too,” Berti said. “She was going wild.”

McCain said she’s thrilled she and Berti were undefeated until they got to state and only lost two matches there — against very tough teams.

“I’m really glad we made Coach Maley proud,” she said. “I’m also really glad that Coach Maley put us together. If she didn’t try and put us together, this wouldn’t be happening. We wouldn’t have won a medal at state.”

STUDENT ATHLETE PROFILE

Name: Jacob Marquez
Year: senior
Hometown: Clarendon Hills

How is it playing soccer in the spring?
It's definitely different. I think the majority sentiment on the team is that we're just happy we have a season.

Has the postponement had any benefits?
I think it allowed us to get better. We did have a lot of contact days in November and that helped build up our team chemistry.

How has your game developed since freshman year?
I've gotten a lot more confident on the ball and more physical. I used to more timid, but now feel very confident out in the field and more like I'm able to lead.

What do you enjoy about the sport?
I really like the team and the group aspect. We always have fun out there, and I really like Central's soccer culture.

How would your teammates describe you?
Easygoing, responsible. I'm fast but I'm kind of quiet on the field. I like to lead more by example.

Do you have any pre-game rituals?
I listen to music and think about what I want to try to do that game. I try not to let the moment get too big and focus on playing my best and still having fun.

What's been the highlight of your Red Devil career?
Last year we had our play-off run and knocked out LT to advance. That was definitely the highlight of our soccer careers.

What's your post-Central plan?
I'm going to University of Kentucky to study computer science. I'm thinking about playing club and intramural soccer.

What's your advice to the team's underclassmen?
Be confident and play your game. Make sure you're flexible, too, to fit with others' playing style. And be accountable.

Why does coach Mike Wiggins like having Marquez on the squad?
Jake is one of our captains, who brings positivity, calm and confidence to our team in his role as a senior leader. I've always enjoyed his willingness to take coaching points and apply them to his individual development. His continuous improvement and competitiveness has shown well for us as he closes out his last season as a Red Devil.

Girls are sixth at historic state meet

Central enjoys trip to first state tourney since COVID-19 pandemic began last March

By Pamela Lannom
plannom@thehinsdalean.com

The Hinsdale Central girls badminton team ended a season like no other, placing sixth at the state tournament March 30 and April 1 at Hinsdale South High School in Darien.

"I knew my No. 1 doubles team, Angelia Berti and Lily McCain, I knew that they were going to get a medal," varsity head coach Katie Maley said. "These girls went to state and did awesome as sophomores. I knew as seniors they were going to dominate and they really did. They had a huge upset against a Naperville North doubles team and a Fremd doubles team."

Undefeated this season,

Berti and McCain beat teams from Lockport, LT and New Trier before losing in the championship quarterfinals to a Neuqua Valley team. Their victories against Naperville North and Fremd in the consolation quarterfinals and semifinals got them to the fifth-place match, where they lost to Rosana Liang and Emily Shih of Naperville North 10-21, 12-21 to capture sixth place. Naperville North ended up winning the state title with 18 points.

Berti and McCain are great communicators on the court, Maley said.

"They were truly two girls-one body, one mind," she said. "They moved in perfect harmony."

Berti said she and her partner genuinely enjoy playing.

Angelia Berti and her partner Lily McCain (bottom, left) won their first three matches, including this one against Lockport, en route to a sixth-place finish.

"We're friends on and off the court, and I think that definitely you can see that through our playing and it strengthens us a lot," she said.

Berti was "completely blown away" by winning a medal.

"I had been playing since fourth grade and it's what I've been working toward for many years. I was very happy," she said.

Competing two years ago at state provided an advantage, she surmised.

"I think it was really good practice for us. I think if we didn't do that two years ago, we wouldn't have had a chance this year," she said.

McCain agreed the experience gave them an edge.

"We knew what kind of level we needed to get to in order to win a medal," she said.

Having a season limited to conference matches made for a tough state meet, McCain said. They hadn't seen many teams since the state meet two years ago.

"We didn't really know how good they are this year, so it was a little nerve wracking going into it," she said.

"Sometimes we'd get out on the court — when we played New Trier at the state meet — and we were like, 'This is a lot easier than we expected.'"

In their first strip to state,
