Victory lap — Teachers and staff members at the Hinsdale Middle School hosted a graduation parade for eighth-graders Monday afternoon. Dozens of cars with graduates popping out of the sun roofs or waving from the back seats passed by teachers, who stood along Third Street with signs shouting, clapping and cheering for the kids. With music playing and a bubble machine, the teachers and staff did their best to make the parade fun for the graduates. Ryann Knapp made a sign of her own thanking the teachers. Hinsdale Central students, accompanied by adults and children, marched through downtown Hinsdale Wednesday afternoon, chanting “I can’t breathe” and “No justice, no peace.” The group made a stop in Burlington Park before repeating its route through the business district. The drivers of many passing vehicles honked and waved in support of the protesters. (Jim Slonoff photos)

Wednesday afternoon protest is peaceful

Marchers circle boarded up businesses downtown, police chief says all is under control

Despite posts on social media that a planned protest for Wednesday afternoon in Hinsdale had been canceled, a group of more than 110 people marched through downtown Hinsdale before gathering in Burlington Park.

There, co-organizer Maiwen Amegadjie addressed the protesters, encouraging them to exercise their right to vote and find other peaceful means of ending racial oppression.

“I am not here to incite violence. I am only here to incite change,” she said. “Peaceful change, and we need it!”

Amegadjie also alluded to the protective plywood several businesses had installed on windows in anticipation of unrest.

“They can board up our stores, but they will not board up our mouths!” she remarked.

The recent Hinsdale Central graduate told The Hinsdalean she was buoyed by the number of people

Police began working extra shifts Sunday night after social media threats targeted Hinsdale for rioting and looting. Businesses began boarding up Tuesday, who have asked her how they can help, stressing that grassroots action is critical.

“When I’m doing things locally, that’s how I feel change,” Amegadjie said.

Her twin brother, Kiran Amegadjie, also participated in the march, carrying a sign that read, “Am I next?”

Carl Anliker, the vicar at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Hinsdale, said he and about a dozen church members attended the protest to stand in solidarity with the Hinsdale Central students who organized the event.

“This is important to our members and important to us as Christians,” he said.

During one of the group’s trips down First Street, a lull in the chanting was filled with the sounds of shop windows being boarded up. Others stores had emptied out all of their merchandise.

fearing the same thing that happened in Naperville Monday night would happen after the protest here on Wednesday.

Angela Lavelli, owner of Café la Fortuna, posted her reasons for closing on Facebook.

“This decision has NOTHING to do with the peaceful protest organized by high school students looking for a change, looking for respect for the African American community and to send a message of support to the family of Mr. Floyd for his tragic death. This is just a precautionary measure,” she wrote, adding that she hoped to re-open today, June 4.

Police Chief Brian King said Wednesday morning he was not worried about the safety of businesses in downtown Hinsdale and noted there had not been a single incident of property damage in the village.

D86 attorneys call size and course gaps at Hinsdale Central, Hinsdale South appropriate

By Ken Knutson

kknutson@thehinsdalean.com

Enrollment unevenness and course differences between Hinsdale Central and Hinsdale South high schools have been the subject of criticism from Hinsdale High School District 86 residents. According to the district's legal counsel, however, those differences do not represent Constitutional violations.

At the District 86 Board meeting May 28, attorneys Stanley Eisenhammer and Pamela Simaga of Hodges, Loizzi, Eisenhammer, Rodick & Kohn LLP said their analysis of the issue found that the district not run afoul of the 14th Amendment, specially the Equal Protection Clause.

"Students at Hinsdale South High School are not denied equal educational opportunities under the law, and District 86 is compliant with school equity rules and the law," Eisenhammer told board members.

He explained that they did not assess the quality of the district's education plan but simply scrutinized its legality.

"Our job as lawyers is to ensure that you, as a school district, follow the Constitution and laws," he said.

Eisenhammer laid out the case law prescribing that students receive equal opportunities for success.

"It doesn't require all schools to provide the exact same classes and activities, as long as there are equal opportunities," he said.

Simaga said the fact that while Hinsdale South has more students of color, discrimination was not a factor in that dynamic.

"There's no evidence that the attendance boundaries were drawn to separate students by race," she reported.

Other variations between the schools are deemed permissible as long as they are for rational reasons, using considerations such as geographic proximity, neighborhood boundaries and school capacity, Simaga said.

"Ultimately, any difference between the two schools is going to be subject to rational review," she stated, adding that arguments could be made for the advantages of attending the smaller South versus the larger Central.

"Hinsdale South has smaller class sizes. The chances of making a cut sport or activity are statistically increased."

Several residents, in submitted comments that were read at the meeting, aired grievances over disparities between the school communities, suggesting that more limited courses and activities at South are to blame, in part, for its lower state ranking and lower property values.

"When the District 86 school board stops interfering with the real estate market through inequitable treatment of its schools, you will see South seniors selling their empty-nest homes to eager buyers and then moving just like their Central counterparts do today," resident Alan Hruby said.

"When will the board of ed take responsibility and bring equity to District 86?" posed resident Stacy Longfellow.

But Simaga said those claims of inequality don't hold up.

"The differences behind Central and South are minimal," she said, citing statistics in areas like teacher retention, rates of college coursework and post-secondary enrollment that are virtually the same. "The differences between South and Central don't result in unequal opportunities based on state metrics."

Superintendent Tammy Prentiss said South's graduation rate is skewed because of the way the state accounts for Transition Center students. While South's four-year rate is 87 percent, it rises to 97 percent — commensurate with Central — after students exit transition services.

"I do believe that is something that's contributing on many fronts to the misnomer that there's something different (between the schools)," Prentiss said of the state's approach, which the district has been lobbying to change.

Simaga advised the board to continue monitoring the issue by, for example, regularly examining and comparing teachers' years of experience or education levels at the schools.

Eisenhammer said district officials have latitude legally to charter the district's path.

"You have a variety of choices to deal with the programs at the both of the schools, and those choices are up to you," he said.

D86 Board admits fault in First Amendment suit

By Ken Knutson

kknutson@thehinsdalean.com

Hinsdale High School District 86 Board May 28 approved a settlement with several district residents over alleged First Amendment and Open Meetings Act violations. Board President Kevin Camden was the lone dissenter in the 5-1 vote. Board member Kathleen Hirsman was absent.

The suit, filed against the board and then-board President Nancy Pollak, stemmed from an incident at the Dec. 12 board meeting when the residents attempted to read a letter critical of Carol Baker, assistant superintendent for academics. Pollak objected to Patel's attempt to read it, and a district employee removed the microphone from the podium. Two more parents tried to continue read the letter but were stopped by Pollak, who said the comments were inappropriate.

"The board acknowledges that under the First Amendment and Open Meetings Act, Meeta Patel, Kara Kuo and Kim Notaro should have been allowed to read Dan Levinthal's letter at the Dec. 12, 2019 board meeting," said Camden, reading from language in the settlement.

The district also agreed to pay the plaintiffs' legal costs of $21,000 and to invite Maryam Judar, executive director of the Citizen Advocacy Center, to give a presentation on the First Amendment and Open Meetings Act at the October board meeting.

In his remarks explaining his "no" vote, Camden said the settlement is "hypocritical" for allowing "bullying" and "harassment" of staff even though the district prohibits that behavior in other contexts.

"We're going to accept a settlement agreement that essentially says, by virtue of your public employment, you can be pilloried with any comments about you personally or your family, and I don't support that," he said, adding that he would ensure the terms of the agreement are met.

The plaintiffs, in a joint statement May 29, expressed disappointment with Camden's position but were optimistic the resolution would bring about needed changes.

"We are hopeful that despite the commentary made by board President Camden at last night's meeting, the community will understand that the fault for the lawsuit lies entirely with the members of the board," they asserted. "We, the plaintiffs, feel that our efforts in opposing the dishonorable way with which the board conducted itself in this matter will result in the community being more confident that their voice will at least be heard in the future, which is the first step in being understood."

MEETING ROUNDUP

Hinsdale High School District 86 Board

Among other business May 28, board members:

- approved one-time lump sum hazard payments of $1,000 to 51 district employees in the buildings and grounds, IT and security departments for their on-site work while district facilities were closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The measure passed 5-1, with Eric Held opposing the payments, citing current economic uncertainty and other potential expenses.

"Could this money be going toward keeping somebody on the payroll in the future if things get tight enough or some sort of emergency repair?" he asked.

- approved paying $698,284 in bond premium funds for incoming water service work related to requirements from the Illinois Department of Public Health and the Hinsdale Fire Department. The premium is due to favorable interest rates as the district sells its bonds for the $139 million in voter-approved district improvements. The premium could be nearly $17 million after the third sale, and the board also discussed using the money for classroom renovation and upgrades.

- accepted a donation of 500 new desks from Twin Star Home to replace aging furniture currently utilized by staff. International Transload Logistics is donating the transportation and delivery to the district.

Only two more COVID-19 cases in past week

A total of 181 Hinsdale residents have confirmed cases of COVID-19 as of June 2, compared to 179 a week ago.

The DuPage County Health Department reported 171 confirmed cases in Hinsdale and the Cook County Health Department reported 10 confirmed cases in the village.

A total of 165 confirmed cases and 28 deaths are associated with ManorCare in Hinsdale, according to the Illinois Department of Public Health. Those numbers include residents and staff who might not be DuPage County residents.

Amita Hinsdale Hospital had nine confirmed COVID-19 patients and 13 patients awaiting test results on Wednesday, a spokeswoman said.

DuPage County has a total of 7,838 confirmed cases, including 379 deaths, up from 7,305 cases and 341 deaths a week ago.

A total of 1,159 cases (16 percent) in DuPage, including 256 deaths (75 percent), are related to long-term care facilities.

The number of confirmed cases in towns neighboring Hinsdale are as follows:

- Burr Ridge, 88
- Clarendon Hills, 44
- Oak Brook, 101
- Western Springs, 43
- Westmont, 306

The health departments' websites are at <https://www.dph.illinois.gov>, <https://www.dupagehealth.org> and <https://www.cookcountypublichealth.org>.

A public hearing on a teardown moratorium and the Clarendale development were incorrectly listed in last week's paper as agenda items for the Historic Preservation Commission's June 3 meeting.

Business has been booming at Kramer's

Demand for groceries, other items has kept local store unusually busy during pandemic

By Pamela Lannom
plannom@thehinsdalean.com

Seeing empty shelves at the grocery store during the first few weeks of the COVID-19 pandemic created feelings of anxiety in many shoppers.

And in Ron Ludwigson, who, with wife Kim, owns Kramer Foods in Hinsdale.

"To see all the shelves empty and to know you can't fill them up with the next truck coming, it was difficult," Ron said. "Our supplier would only let us order 10 percent more than we normally order. That wasn't keeping our shelves full."

At times, their inventory of certain items was completely exhausted.

"One time we didn't have a loaf of bread on the shelf," he said. "No eggs. The meat case was wiped out. No paper products."

They sold out of milk. Home Run Inn frozen pizzas. And saw an unanticipated spike in the demand for postage.

"People are coming up and buying stamps because they were spending their time corresponding with people," Kim recalled.

A day after Gov. JB Pritzker's March 13 announcement that he was closing public schools for two weeks, Kramer's launched an online shopping service. Fortunately, the project already had been in the works.

"It was 95 percent ready to go at the time," Ron said. "We just had to fine tune a few of the minor details."

"It was a learning experience," he added.

The site was so popular, staff had a tough time keeping up.

"At one point it was over a week to get an order on our online store and three days for an email order," Ron said. "Now it's the next day, sometimes the same day."

Many of those online shoppers have returned to the store with Pritzker's lifting of the stay-at-home order last week.

"We've been seeing a lot of the people in the store last week that were placing the orders," Ron said. "They're back to shopping."

Kramer's will continue to offer its online service and delivery through GoFr Corp., a new Hinsdale business. Although the store reinstated its regular hours this week, the first half-hour each day still is reserved for senior citizens.

"At the beginning, it was almost worse to come in senior time because there were so many seniors. It's leveled out," he said.

Keeping the shelves stocked also is less of a challenge, Ron said, although disinfecting wipes and sprays and cleaning supplies are still hard to come by. Recent reports of an anticipated drop in meat processing fortunately did not affect Kramer's.

"We did pretty good with meat, actually. I was worried

Ron and Kim Ludwigson and their daughter, Amy, have been focused on keeping staff and shoppers safe and keeping the shelves filled since the COVID-19 pandemic began in March. The first month was the most difficult, Ron said. (Jim Slonoff photo) about it. We've been able to get the majority of the products that we need," Ron said.

The pandemic called attention to some products the store had offered for some time, including the dinner entrées available in the deli. The meals have been popular — especially among the Ludwigsons.

"This is the only place we've eaten since this started. We eat there almost every night," he said.

The store also saw an increase in requests for vitamins and supplements and now carries quite a few options, said Amy Ludwigson, who works at the store with her parents.

"We just got a lot of the classic multivitamins," she said.

"The magnesium 'Calm' has been the best seller. We sell out of it every time it comes in."

Collagen powder and immune-boosting products have been popular as well. The section likely will expand when more products are available.

"There's probably 10 items that I've ordered that haven't come in yet," Amy said.

The Ludwigsons truly appreciate the willing attitude of the staff during this challenging time.

"Employees have been great, pitching in and doing whatever they can to keep the shelves full and the customers happy," Ron said.

They volunteered to come in on their days off, Kim said. Others postponed their vacations until things calmed down, Ron said.

Customers have stepped up as well.

"We had many, many customers volunteering to do things, deliver anywhere, from college kids to well-known people in town volunteer their time," Ron said. "That's very interesting the way the community comes together."

Customers' generosity — and their gratitude — helped boost the family's spirits. Kim recalled one shopper who came up to the office counter, her voice filled with emotion, to offer her thanks.

"I don't know what I'd do without you," she said.

Law student champions the vulnerable

Aspiring lawyer Allison Lantero of Hinsdale cites her grandfather, a former judge in DuPage County, as her inspiration for pursuing a legal career.

"My dream is to one day be a judge like my grandfather," said Lantero, a rising third-year student at Notre Dame Law School. "I'm someone that has a really strong sense of justice."

She's blazing path of her own, however, evidenced by her recent selection for the American Constitution Society's 2020 Next Generation Leaders program. She and the 25 other recent and forthcoming law school graduates chosen "have demonstrated special leadership in their work with ACS's student chapters" and are leveraging "that talent to becoming the next generation of progressive leaders across the country," according to an ACS statement.

"They apparently expect great things," Lantero quipped.

Lantero decided to defer law school for several years following undergrad witnessing the difficulty many were having getting hired by law firms. She instead spent seven years working in public affairs for the U.S. Department of Transportation and U.S. Department of Energy.

"When you work in communications, you learn a little bit about everything," related Lantero, who also earned a master's in journalism at Georgetown University while in D.C. "You hone the skill of being able to ask the right questions."

Reverting to student mode for law school after working full-time was challenging. But Lantero found a community in Notre Dame's ACS chapter,

"It really kind of gave me home and really made me feel like I was heading down the right path," Lantero said of the group, characterizing it as the liberal counterpart to the conservative Federalist Society. "Our goal is to make sure the underrepresented voices are being heard and protected."

Lantero served as president this past year, implementing a strategy of engagement that earned recognition from the national organization.

"It means putting together a weekly newsletter and planning events to make sure our voice is heard on campus," she said of the leadership role. "We ended up having a really great year."

Lantero she was encouraged by peers to apply for the competitive NGL program, and her selection gives her access to training, individualized career support and other resources from American Constitution Society staff. She returned to Hinsdale in March to finish her classes online due to COVID-19 and is presently working remotely for a Chicago law firm. Her dream of ascending to a courtroom bench keeps her motivated.

"I like the idea of being able to make those decisions and helping shape the law and people's lives," she said.

Mixed in with her legal treatises next school year may be a few bridal magazines, as Lantero got engaged this spring. The wedding is slated for next year.

"After I've taken the bar," she noted.

King offers us hope, inspiration, call to do better

"Darkness cannot drive out darkness. Only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate. Only love can do that."

We are all hurting.

And we often are unable to comfort one another, as we focus on our disagreements and divisions rather than coming together to find solutions.

To whom can we look for inspiration and solace?

We turn, as so many have before us, to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. His words, spoken more than half a century ago, could have been uttered this week. Let them serve as both comfort and a call to action.

"We have also come to this hallowed spot to remind America of the fierce urgency of Now. ... Now is the time to lift our nation from the quicksands of racial injustice to the solid rock of brotherhood. Now is the time to make justice a reality for all of God's children."

— from "I Have a Dream," delivered Aug. 28, 1963, at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C.

"It is normalcy all over our country which leaves the Negro perishing on a lonely island of poverty in the midst of vast ocean of material prosperity. It is normalcy all over Alabama that prevents the Negro from becoming a registered voter. No, we will not allow Alabama to return to normalcy."

"The only normalcy that we will settle for is the normalcy that recognizes the dignity and worth of all of God's children. ... The only normalcy that we will settle for is the normalcy of brotherhood, the normalcy of true peace, the normalcy of justice."

— from "Our God is Marching On," delivered March 25, 1965, in Selma, Ala.

"(T)here are literally two Americas. One America is beautiful for situation. And, in a sense, this America is overflowing with the milk of prosperity and the honey of opportunity. This America is the habitat of millions of people who have food and material necessities for their bodies, and culture and education for their minds, and freedom and human dignity for their spirits. In this America, millions of people experience every day the opportunity of having life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in all of their dimensions. And in this America millions of young people grow up in the sunlight of opportunity.

"But tragically and unfortunately, there is another America. This other America has a daily ugliness about it that constantly transforms the ebullience of hope into the fatigue of despair. In this America millions of work-starved men walk the streets daily in search for jobs that do not exist. In this America millions of people find themselves living in rat-infested, vermin-filled slums. In this America people are poor by the millions. They find themselves perishing on a lonely island of poverty in the midst of a vast ocean of material prosperity."

— from "The Other America," delivered April 14, 1967 at Stanford University

"Let us rise up tonight with a greater readiness. Let us stand with a greater determination. And let us move on in these powerful days, these days of challenge to make America what it ought to be. We have an opportunity to make America a better nation."

— from "I've Been to the Mountaintop," delivered April 3, 1968 (his final speech before his assassination April 4) at Mason Temple in Memphis, Tenn.

COMMENTARY

Want to write a column? Now's your chance!

Writing is a strange profession — especially when what you write is likely to be tossed in the recycling bin within 24-72 hours of its publication.

And yet, writing is something I've always loved, from the time one of the poems I wrote in elementary school was published in "King Arthur's Court" in the Homewood-Flossmoor Star. The rest, as they say, is history.

Most writers agree the craft isn't something you choose to do — it's something you have to do.

"The impulse to write things down is a peculiarly compulsive one, inexplicable to those who do not share it, useful only accidentally, only secondarily, in the way that any compulsion tries to justify itself," Joan Didion says. "I suppose that it begins or does not begin in the cradle."

Her comments get a little dark after that, so I'll stop there.

What make the best subjects for people's prose?

Annie Dillard encourages writers to tackle "that idiosyncratic thought you advert to" — "your fascination with something no one else understands."

Have all these thoughts on writing stirred an urge to pen something?

Then I have the perfect announcement for you. We need four more contributing columnists to begin writing in September, and I'm inviting you to apply.

"Yippee!" you might be saying to yourself right now. "I've always wanted to write a column."

Or your response might be a little more lukewarm.

Either way, please keep reading.

I asked Sally Hartmann, who is finishing up her second two-year stint as a contributing columnist, to share what she enjoyed most about writing for our opinion pages. She pointed to the opportunity to stretch her creative muscles.

"Writing 400+ word columns on whatever topic I dreamed up has been fun, challenging and very satisfying," she said. "Plus, tapping into whatever creativity I have felt great."

I would like to pause for a moment to thank her, and our other retiring writers — our student columnists, Katie Hughes and Cedra Jazayerli. They've all shared some amazing, thought-provoking, touching and humorous pieces over the last 48 months. I'm sure you've enjoyed reading their work as much as I have.

Their departure creates three openings for contributors, including at least one student.

If you are still reading — and still interested — here's what you need to do to apply. Email me a sample column of 450 words along with ideas for three additional columns (a sentence or two about each).

Please include an address and a daytime phone number with your name. I'd also appreciate knowing a little bit about who you are and why you are interested in writing a column.

And, as we note every year, if your primary interest in applying is to get free publicity for your business, nonprofit organization, political cause or fill in the blank, please do not apply.

Elected officials and employees of public bodies are not eligible, either.

I could provide endless examples of all the ways writing this column has enriched my life. But I think the biggest attraction for all the columnists who have written for us is that it's an enjoyable pastime.

As it should be, according to Ray Bradbury.

"Writing is not a serious business," he said. "It's a joy and a celebration. You should be having fun with it."

Why not give it a try?

‘Groundhog’s Day’ has new resonance

These days, I find myself waking up to what sometimes feels like one long day on repeat. As our routines have changed, the days have a way of blending together. Occasionally, I have to remind myself what day of the week it actually is. I watched the movie “Groundhog Day” recently, which, in light of the COVID 19 quarantine, has taken on a slightly new meaning to me.

This classic old movie imagines a moment when a cynical local weatherman, Phil Connors, gets caught in a time loop. Connors, played by Bill Murray, is forced to repeatedly relive the same day. Along the way Connor’s soul begins to evolve as his perspective changes. As his relationship with time is altered, Connors adds meaning to his days by spending time caring for people and starting new hobbies like piano lessons, reading poetry and ice sculpting. Eventually, Connors begins to invest his time in the things he can carry forward from day to day.

On a Zoom call with some of my college friends, one friend asked the group a good question that had me thinking: “Is there any one thing that is saving you these days?”

Personally, I am not sure that there is one consistent thing. Instead I have found it to be more of a mindset. As time passes, I — like Connors — have begun to appreciate my hobbies a bit more.

Unless homeschooling counts, I haven’t picked up any new interests, yet. Instead I have been focusing on the people and things that I love. I have created a new vegetable and herb garden. This spring I turned my basement office into a mini greenhouse and now that the weather is warm, we have planted all of our little seedlings. My young daughters have been fascinated watching our seedlings grow.

The other thing that has been keeping us connected has been baking. I love to cook, but baking bread was something I used to reserve for special occasions and holidays. Now that we have found ourselves with more time at home, we — like so many others — have been baking bread. All that kneading has a way of smoothing the rough edges of one’s thoughts. My kindergartner Alyssa particularly loves kneading bread and is becoming quite the baker. We are now routinely making our own pizza dough, French bread and biscuits. It’s been a welcome and delicious distraction, something to look forward to and enjoy together.

This pandemic certainly has its Punxsutawney moments. Has the groundhog ever predicted a long summer? At times this new normal still feels surreal. Our sense of time and habits have been upended. I wonder what new hobbies and interests we will explore to fend off summer pandemic stress? As my perspective on time changes, I am still looking for the silver linings. What has been saving me is knowing I’m not the only one. Ultimately, it’s the small things that I appreciate most. The moments that make us laugh, bring us joy and draw us closer together.

Read village survey for insight on preservation

The detailed official notice on the Hinsdale Plan Commission’s June 10 public hearing (7:30 p.m. via Zoom) to receive residents’ input on a proposed moratorium on demolitions of certain historic homes and other buildings is on the village website’s home page at <https://www.villageofhinsdale.org>, under Featured News.

Importantly, the notice references and provides a link to the 1999 “Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey,” prepared by Historic Certification Consultants at the direction of the village to do the groundwork for more rigorous examination of Hinsdale’s history and architectural resources.

The Recon survey covered the entire village; looked at more than 5,600 structures; classified more than 1,800 of them as historically significant, contributing or potentially contributing; and more than 3,700 structures as non-contributing to a historic district, but not necessarily lacking historical value for some of them then or with the passage of time.

Also included in the survey were five proposed historic districts, a next-step demonstration survey of a single Hinsdale block, a listing and examples of the village’s varied architectural styles, and an explanation of the survey methodology, the criteria and the sources used in the survey.

In short, the comprehensive, highly-readable survey helped confirm what many Hinsdale residents long had known and probably all residents took pride in — Hinsdale was home to an unusually rich historic and architectural heritage.

Please look at the survey for a good measure on what Hinsdale had and may still have as an opportunity for historic preservation.

Verizon still on track to roll out 5G in Hinsdale

My family recently moved to this beautiful town filled with wonderful people and great businesses to raise our young family and plant roots. I am very disheartened to hear that the Verizon 5G rollout is still on track to install over 140 unsightly and potentially dangerous towers throughout our scenic town.

The poles are expected to be 32-45 feet tall with a 6-foot tall humming power unit at the base. This will massively affect the aesthetics of our village and will surely decrease property values. More importantly, 5G radiation has not been proven safe and many health studies have linked 3G and 4G wireless radiation to adverse health effects, including cancer. With small children in our home, I am unwilling to let them grow up as human health science experiments with this unproven technology right in front of our home.

Because of laws that have been passed at the federal and state levels, Verizon has been given the power to use our front-yard parkways with only perfunctory blessing from the village of Hinsdale. Therefore, we need every home in Hinsdale to share their concern by emailing stop5ghinsdale@gmail.com to get on board with this movement to help change the law to stop big wireless companies from having the authority to roll out this untested technology. — Amber Nolan, Hinsdale

Writer ponders solution to stop speeders in town

I had a nice, safer-for-all pipe dream about a small Illinois suburban village whose citizens unanimously approved an overhead satellite that controlled and limited all non-emergency vehicles to the posted speed limit. And they all lived happier ever after. — Ralph Homann, Hinsdale

OBITUARIES

William Charles Ives

William Charles Ives, 87, of Chapel Hill, N.C., a former longtime resident of Hinsdale, died peacefully on May 30, 2020, surrounded by family.

Born in 1933 in Galesburg to Dale Gilbert and Anna Grace Ives, Bill was raised in Aledo where he excelled academically and won nine varsity letters in football, basketball and track. He attended Knox College, playing on three conference championship golf teams and was elected Phi Beta Kappa. While at Knox he took a then unprecedented five-week trip with other university newspaper editors to Russia in 1954, a journey that received wide national media coverage and about which he wrote and spoke extensively.

Bill served in the U.S. Army from 1955-57, joining the Counter Intelligence Corps as a field office commander in Giessen, Germany. He was always proud of his military service and the many lessons he learned from it. He then entered Harvard Law School, graduating in 1960, and practiced law for almost 60 years, the first 35 years with Keck, Mahin and Cate in Chicago, where he rose to become chairman of its management committee. He later joined Michael, Best and Friedrich and then practiced in Chapel Hill until 2019. Bill was admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court and gave numerous speeches on legal subjects.

Bill held various civic positions, including the chairmanship of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission, special assistant Illinois attorney general and DuPage County assistant state's attorney. He also served as a member of the Secretary of State's Advisory Committee on International Law. He was active in the Republican party and was a member of the Illinois Republican State Central Committee for 12 years. Bill was elected to the Illinois College of Presidential Electors in 1968, 1972 and 1976 and twice served as its chairman. He was a credentials committee member of the 1976 GOP National Convention.

In addition, Bill was on the executive committee of the 1992 Chicago World's Fair, President of the International Churchill Center, Board of Governors of the Association of Churchill Fellows at the National Churchill Museum and member of the Illinois State Historical Society's Advisory Board. His hobbies were collecting, sports, and travel. Bill and his wife Virginia visited more than 200 countries.

Bill is survived by his wife of 40 years, Virginia Ruth Lowry Ives; his sister-in-law, Lois Ives; his three children by his first wife, Jane Peterson Schroeder — David (Jeanne) William, Carol Elaine Ives Davis and Daniel (Joy) Winston; and his eight grandchildren, William Ives, Jeremy Ives, Madeleine Ives, Andrew Davis, Alison Davis, Daniel Ives Jr. and Thomas Ives.

He was preceded in death by his parents; his brother, Robert; his nephew, Rob Ives; and his grandson, Matthew Ives.

Services and burial will be in his hometown of Aledo at 11 a.m. Saturday, June 6.

A Memorial Service will be held in Chapel Hill at a later date.

In lieu of flowers, please donate to a food bank of choice.

Donald L. Lindsey

Donald L. Lindsey, 91, a longtime Hinsdale resident, labor leader and veterans advocate, died peacefully May 29, 2020, in Westmont, with family by his side.

Donald was born in 1928 in Clinton and began his career as a locomotive fireman on the Illinois Central Railroad in 1947, later promoted to locomotive engineer. After serving in the U.S. Army during the Korean War, he attended Thornton Junior College, DePaul University and John Marshall Law School. He had an interest in the legislative process and saw the opportunity to put his personal experience as a locomotive engineer to use in improving the working conditions and protecting the rights of locomotive engineers.

After his Illinois Central experience, he went on to leadership positions with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers AFL-CIO, first in his home state as legislative director in Springfield and then in Washington D.C. as vice president and national legislative representative, promoting the interests of locomotive engineers before Congress, the administration and various federal agencies. He testified before Congress many times on railroad labor issues. A tireless advocate for rail transportation and safety, he served on advisory boards and committees of various state and national governmental, trade and professional organizations, including the Federal Railroad Administration, Illinois Department of Transportation, METRA, the National Safety Council and Operation Lifesaver. He was a charter member of the U.S. High Speed Rail Association.

In retirement Donald was honored to serve as a longtime board member of Dr. Lanny Wilson's DuPage Railroad Safety Council. He also enjoyed many friendships and activities with The American Legion Hinsdale Post 250. For almost two decades he marched in the annual Memorial Day and Fourth of July parades, handed out school awards at local graduation ceremonies and stood at Kramer Foods collecting money each December for Christmas gifts for hospitalized veterans. He served as Hinsdale Post 250 commander, as well as the DuPage County commander for The American Legion.

He was preceded in death by his wife of 40 years, Dolores.

He is survived by his children, Fr. John Lindsey, James B. (Hollis), Michael (Shelly), Tim (Maureen), Don (Lynn) and Mariann (John) Augustyn of Hinsdale; and his 15 grandchildren, Laura (Daniel), Hannah, Madeline, Matthew, Patricia, Emma, Michael, Ryan, Timothy, Shannon, Kate, Jack, Olivia, John and Clare.

In lieu of flowers the family asks that donations be made to the Hinsdale American Legion Post 250, 19 E. Chicago Avenue, Hinsdale, IL 60521 Services were held June 2.

BUSINESS PROFILE

PAGE'S RESTAURANT

When Cissy Rallo heard the news that Gov. JB Pritzker was closing down eateries due to the COVID-19 pandemic, she froze.

"I think I was in shock, and I wasn't thinking about anything other than, 'What are we going to do?'" she said. "I not only physically shut down, I mentally shut down, too."

She remained in that state for about two weeks, until customers and friends began offering some gentle prodding.

"A bunch of people started reaching out to me and saying, 'Do your doughnuts,'" she recalled. "I thought, 'Well, how much will that bring in?'"

The answer was much more than she expected.

"I missed that one," she admits. "I guess I needed a reminder of how popular my doughnuts are. I'm going through over 500 doughnuts a day. That's a lot."

Rallo, who owned a general contracting business for years before moving into the restaurant realm, developed her apple cider doughnuts while running a catering service. When she and her mom, Kathy Barbara, bought Page's in 2014, she decided to serve them there.

Once she came to the realization that she could sell her doughnuts on weekends, it didn't take long for her to decide to offer carryout as well.

"When we opened, boom! — here comes all the business in," Rallo said.

Customers were generous, often paying more than their bill, which left Rallo feeling grateful — and a little uncomfortable.

"For me to have to ask for help, that's my father coming out in me. We don't ask for help. We figure it out," she said. "I had to swallow my pride and take the help where it was."

Rallo said she knew she would have to do whatever it takes for Page's — which celebrates its 40th anniversary next year — to survive.

"I feel like that's my job now, make sure Page's stays around for as long as it possibly can — and Page's has to survive this," she remarked. "It has to. There is no way I'm going to let it go away."

With many restaurants opening for outdoor dining last Friday, Rallo expects to open Page's patio, which is just south of Hinsdale Avenue on Village Place, on June 12. The hours will be the same as she's doing for carryout — 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday to Sunday.

The patio will have five foldable, six-person picnic tables with market umbrellas. Customers can order carryout and eat it at one of the tables or sit down and be served by a member of the wait staff.

Operating seven days a week with only five tables just doesn't make sense, she said.

"My thought is that we probably, until we open inside, we'll do outside dining in tandem with carryout on Friday, Saturday and Sunday," she said. "That makes more sense because we're here and we're paying staff anyway."

Rallo's earliest memories of Page's are of eating breakfast there with her mom when she was a kid. Now she enjoys seeing everyone from high school students to local business owners filling the booths.

"I've grown in love with this place," she said. "It's my second home, my second family."

— by Pamela Lannom

Cissy Rallo (right) and her mom, Kathy Barbara, have owned Page's since 2014. While they're anxious to open an outdoor seating area, they said it's important to be smart and transition slowly as they add al fresco dining to the current carry-out business. (Jim Slonoff photo)

AMITA Health is nationally recognized for safety — and now we're even more vigilant. We have new precautions in place based on the latest guidance from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and the Illinois Department of Health.

Caregiver screening. All team members are wearing masks and are screened for symptoms before they come to work. This ensures they are healthy and symptom-free before interacting with patients.

Cleaning and disinfecting. All facilities and exam rooms are rigorously disinfected. We're taking special care in operating rooms, which are already designed for sterilization.

Visitor restrictions. Please come to your visit alone. If necessary, bring just one person. Pediatric patients can be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Waiting room safety. Patients must wear a face covering or mask, and we have adjusted seating to promote social distancing. Appointment times are staggered to reduce the number of patients waiting. Note that COVID-19 patients are treated in separate hospital facilities.

Check-in process. We'll prepare you for your visit, and some processes may be handled over the phone. You may be asked to wait in your car until the doctor is ready to see you. You will be re-screened for symptoms at your appointment. How we handle gowns and other materials has changed as well.

Wednesday afternoon protest is peaceful

"We are not encouraging anyone to board up," he said.

Decisions to board up by business owners in Naperville, where peaceful protests were followed by looting, and Downers Grove were emulated in many DuPage County towns, King said.

"I understand that people are anxious. I completely understand that. I understand that people are searching for ways to better protect themselves," he commented.

"Our message to the business community is, 'We've got you. We've put officers on patrol to a higher level.'"

"If something changed in the area where we thought businesses should close or board up, we would communicate that message directly to them."

If rioting or looting did erupt, the mutual aid agreements Hinsdale has with other municipalities would provide additional officers, King said.

"We have plenty of resources that we can bring to town if needed," he said. "We've simply not found that necessary at this moment."

King said officers on Sunday and Monday were sent to support police departments in North Riverside, Oak Brook and Aurora to guard against looting at large shopping centers. In Hinsdale, a suspicious car spotted on Sunday left without incident.

"When the officers got in contact, (the car) immediately fled at high speed," he said. "We surmised that they were here to look for an overnight burglary."

He said officers had been assigned to the central business district through the night and the morning, and also were monitoring businesses on the village's north side.

"There's probably a little bit of a higher risk for burglaries and stuff like that," he said. "We're just keeping a presence."

D86 names new assistant superintendent of academics

Christopher Covino will be the new assistant superintendent of academics for Hinsdale High School District 86 as of July 1.

District 86 board members approved his appointment at their May 14 meeting.

"First, I want to wish Dr. Carol Baker the best in her future endeavors," Superintendent Tammy Prentiss said. "Second, I want to congratulate Chris on his appointment as the district's new assistant superintendent of academics. His knowledge and skills, as well as his experience and leadership in the areas of curriculum development and alignment, will be critical in advancing our strategic plan and building on our strong and storied tradition of excellence."

Prior to joining District 86, Covino served in a variety of roles during his 20-plus years as an educator. He spent the past four years serving as the principal of Argo Community High School. He also was the assistant principal for curriculum and instruction at York Community High School for five years, the division chair for English at West Chicago High School for five years and an English teacher at Neuqua Valley High School for eight years.

Covino has guided a number of important curriculum initiatives during his career, including aligning instruction to meet Illinois' learning standards, increasing student equity and helping all students benefit from dual-credit and advance placement opportunities.

Covino earned his bachelor's degree in English education and master's degree in English from the University of Illinois at Chicago. He also holds a master's degree in educational leadership from Benedictine University and a doctorate in educational leadership and administration from Aurora University.

"I want to thank the board of education and Superintendent Prentiss for this incredible opportunity," Covino said. "I consider it a true honor and privilege to be joining District 86. I am also looking forward to working with the members of this remarkable community to support the success of the district's strategic plan and help every student learn, grow and achieve."

Prentiss expressed her appreciation for the students, staff, parents/guardians and community members who assisted with the search process. More than 50 representatives from these stakeholder groups provided feedback on the strengths of the district's academics department, as well as the opportunities that exist for improvement. They shared their thoughts about the attributes they believed the next assistant superintendent of academics should possess. They also had the chance to observe candidate interviews, and provided valu-

Know the FACTS:

All Hinsdale residents benefit from the Historic nature of our Village; both in life style and in property values. Hinsdale is unique in the western suburbs, having protected its Historic Downtown.

Sadly, since 1998, we have not been so fortunate as to have protected our historic housing stock, succumbing to the wrecking ball on far too many occasions.

Owners of historic residences AND neighbors of historic residences all benefit from the existence of these homes. While owners obviously have certain property rights, neighbors too accrue certain rights. By choosing to live in a certain Village and /or neighborhood, all homeowners are entitled to certain expectations for the sustainability of their neighborhood.

Hinsdale is and has been for many years on the List of Endangered Places by the Landmarks Illinois organization.

Hinsdale has been called out, nationally, as the Teardown Capital of the United States.

A resurgence in historic teardowns has begun again. Now is the time to act before there is nothing left to save.

A moratorium would ONLY affect historically significant residences that are structurally sound. These residences have been identified in the Renaissance Survey of 1999 and the Granacki Survey done in 2000.

If your home is NOT included in one of these surveys, the moratorium WOULD NOT affect you.

If we continue to allow a handful of Realtors and their builders wreck what is left of our historic housing stock, Hinsdale will soon lose its uniqueness, becoming outsized and architecturally mediocre like nearby towns. With a few exceptions, the housing stock that is replacing our historic homes is tragically devoid of any lasting architecture and in many cases, the quality of construction is suspect.

Ultimately, our heritage will vanish and we will become just another up-scale bedroom community. Generations will not aspire to return and provide the special continuity that has characterized our community.

All interested citizens should read the Chicago Metropolitan Agency for Planning report of 2008 titled TEARDOWN STRATEGY REPORT so that you may better understand the multi-faceted damage teardowns wreak upon communities; socially, economically and environmentally. It can be found online at <https://www.cmap.illinois.gov>.

We must act NOW.

What can WE DO?

In response to the many Hinsdaleans who have voiced their concerns about the rash of historically significant tear downs in our Village, President Cauley has asked the Plan Commission to hold a Public Hearing on June 10, 2020 to ascertain whether the citizens of Hinsdale want to take new governmental measures to protect architecturally significant, structurally sound historic homes and buildings in the Historic Downtown.

These measures could govern certain demolitions and could encourage certain renovations by giving special consideration to various Zoning Code regulations, modifying and /or abolishing certain permitting fees and expediting the permitting process, all being designed to encourage the care and renovation of historically significant structures.

If the Plan Commission finds there is sufficient interest in pursuing this matter, it will pass along the findings to the Board of Trustees, who in turn will consider them as they decide whether or not to impose a moratorium on historical teardowns for a period not to exceed 180 days. This pause would allow for the appointment of a Blue Ribbon Committee, comprised of elected and appointed Commission members and citizens, who would study and recommend legislation to be enacted.

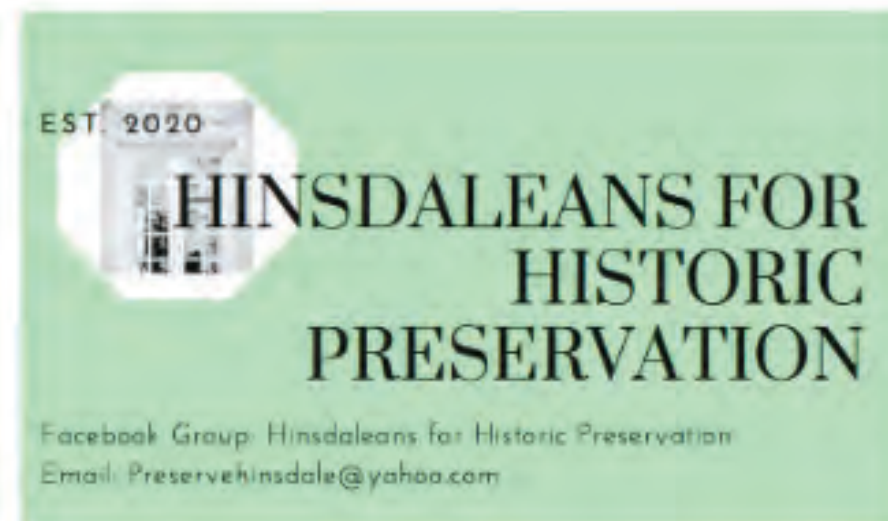

It would be our hope that a positive incentive package, when combined with the Tax Freeze program available through the State of Illinois, will create an atmosphere that encourages the maintenance and renovation of our historic structures, both residential and commercial so that our heritage is sustained and our unique lifestyle is safely preserved far into the future.

Our heritage is our brand. It sustains the uniqueness that sets us apart from other western suburbs and sets the tone for our lifestyle. It sustains our property values and makes Hinsdale a place that many aspire to enjoy. It sustains our schools and preserves the values that have made Hinsdale a very special place to live. Our heritage is our very soul.

What can we do? SHARE YOUR VOICE AND EMAIL OR WRITE TO THE PLAN COMMISSION PRIOR TO THE JUNE 10th, 2020 MEETING. Email or direct your correspondence to village clerk Christine Bruton at cbruton@villageofhinsdale.org with "public comment — demolition moratorium" in the subject line. Written comments may be mailed to her at Village Hall, 19 E. Chicago Ave., Hinsdale, IL 60521.

Tell the Plan Commission that you care about preserving our heritage, our Village and our way of life. Your voice counts and is essential. Thank you,

PUBLIC NOTICE

ATTENTION HINSDALE RESIDENTS: THE PLAN COMMISSION AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE SEEK YOUR INPUT

On June 10, 2020, at 7:30 p.m., the Plan Commission of the Village of Hinsdale will hold an electronic public hearing on whether the Village Board should impose a temporary moratorium not to exceed 180-days on the issuance of any demolition permit or other building or zoning approvals involving the demolition of any single family home or building within the Village that either has landmark status or is one of the homes within the Village deemed to be historically "significant" or "contributing" in the 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey prepared by Historic Certification Consultants. For copies of the 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey, or information on whether your home may be one of the homes potentially affected by the moratorium, please contact Director of Community Development Robb McGinnis at 630-789-7036 or at rmcginnis@villageofhinsdale.org. A link to the 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey is available on the Village's website here: https://www.villageofhinsdale.org/residents/village_history/reconnaissance_survey.php.

The purpose of the moratorium, if imposed, would be to provide an opportunity for study by the Plan Commission, Historic Preservation Commission and/or Village Board of Trustees of whether text amendments to the Village's Zoning Ordinance and Village Code should be made, in order to more effectively protect the many single-family homes and other structures, buildings, sites or areas that contribute to the Village's character, beauty and historic charm. Possible text amendments that might be considered, should a moratorium be imposed, include, but are not limited to, changes to the Village Code provisions relative to landmarking of historic buildings, structures, sites or areas, certificates of appropriateness, and demolition approvals of historic buildings, structures, sites or of buildings, structures or sites within the Village.

Due to current restrictions on public gatherings, the public hearing will be held electronically. A live audio stream of the meeting will be available to the public via Channel 6 or on the Village website. Following the public hearing, the Plan Commission shall make a recommendation to the Village Board of Trustees on whether or not to impose a moratorium.

HOW TO PROVIDE YOUR INPUT

Public comments and testimony on the proposed moratorium are welcome. Written comments and testimony are strongly encouraged. Written comments must be received by email or in writing by the Village Clerk prior to 4:30 p.m. on the day of the meeting. Emailed comments may be sent to Village Clerk Christine Bruton at cbruton@villageofhinsdale.org. Please use the subject line "Public Comment – Demolition Moratorium" when sending your email. Written comments may be submitted to the attention of the Village Clerk at 19 E. Chicago Avenue, Hinsdale, Illinois 60521.

While emailed or written comments or testimony are strongly encouraged, public testimony, comments or cross-examination may also be made by persons who have pre-registered with the Village. Persons may pre-register to provide live public testimony, comments or to cross-examine witnesses by emailing Village Clerk Christine Bruton at cbruton@villageofhinsdale.org prior to 4:30 p.m. on the day of the hearing. Please use the subject line "Pre-Registration – Demolition Moratorium" when sending your email. Persons who have pre-registered may then phone into the meeting at 312.667.4792, using Conference Code 581537. Persons who have pre-registered to provide live testimony, comments or cross-examination will be called on in the order in which they registered during the portion of the hearing reserved for such public testimony, comments or cross-examination.

All members of the public are requested to keep their written comments or testimony to three pages or less, and speakers are requested to keep their live comments or testimony to five minutes or less. Submissions or comments exceeding those limits may, if time allows and at the discretion of the Chairperson, be presented after all others have had an opportunity to testify, comment or have their comments read.

Any questions can be directed to Director of Community Development/Building Commissioner Robert McGinnis at 630-789-7036 or at rmcginnis@villageofhinsdale.org.

You won't find a better location than this. It's situated in the heart of the Blue Ribbon Madison School neighborhood on a quiet tree-lined street close to the train. Here's a recently updated home with an open first-floor plan. Nine foot ceilings. Attached heated garage. Private, interior lot with paver patio, water feature and plenty of play space. Decadent master suite with a closet larger than most bedrooms. Finished lower level has 'wow' factor with an open layout, bar, fireplace, 9-foot foundation height and great natural light. This is why people move to Hinsdale.

Legal Notices

VILLAGE OF HINSDALE

REVISED NOTICE OF PLAN COMMISSION

PUBLIC HEARING

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to all persons that the Village of Hinsdale Plan Commission shall conduct an electronic public hearing on Wednesday, June 10, 2020 at 7:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the business of the Plan Commission permits, for the purpose of considering a request from the Village Board of Trustees on whether the Village should impose a Village-wide temporary moratorium not to exceed 180-days on the issuance of any demolition permit or other building or zoning approvals involving the demolition of any single family home or building within the Village that either has landmark status or is one of the homes within the Village deemed to be historically "significant" or "contributing" in the 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey prepared by Historic Certification Consultants. Following the public hearing, the Plan Commission shall make a recommendation to the Village Board of Trustees on whether or not to impose a moratorium.

This request is known as Application A-14-2020.

The Properties to which the Village-wide temporary moratorium is proposed to apply are any landmarked homes and buildings, and any of the homes within the Village deemed to be historically "significant" or "contributing" in the 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey prepared by Historic Certification Consultants. For copies of the 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey, or information on whether your home may be one of the homes potentially affected by the moratorium, please contact Director of Community Development Robb McGinnis at 630-789-7036 or at rmcginnis@villageofhinsdale.org. The 1999 Hinsdale Reconnaissance Survey is also available on the Village's website at: https://www.villageofhinsdale.org/residents/village_history/reconnaissance_survey.php and Village Code should be made, in order to more effectively protect the many single-family homes and other structures, buildings, sites or areas that contribute to the Village's character, beauty and historic charm. Possible text amendments that might be considered, should a moratorium be imposed, include, but are not limited to, changes to the Village Code provisions relative to landmarking of historic buildings, structures, sites or areas, certificates of appropriateness, and demolition approvals of historic buildings, structures, sites or of buildings, structures or sites within the Village.

The purpose of the moratorium, if imposed, would be to provide an opportunity for study by the Plan Commission, Historic Preservation Commission and/or Village Board of Trustees of whether text amendments to the Village's Zoning Ordinance

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Governor Pritzker has enacted a "Stay-at-Home" directive effective as of March 21st, 2020, as most recently extended by Executive Order 2020-32 issued on April 30, 2020, which, among other things, limits the capacity for all public gatherings to 10 people or less. The Village will therefore be unable to facilitate physical attendance by members of the public at the hearing, and the public hearing will be held electronically. The public will be able to listen to the entire hearing and meeting live on the Village's website, and on Channel 6.

Public comments and testimony on the proposed moratorium are welcome. Written comments and testimony are strongly encouraged. Do not go where the path may lead, go instead where there is no path and leave a trail.

Ralph Waldo Emerson

The more often we see the things around us - even the beautiful and wonderful things - the more they become invisible to us. That is why we often take for granted the beauty of this world: the flowers, the trees, the birds, the clouds - even those we love. Because we see things so often, we see them less and less.

THROWBACK THURSDAY

‘Throwback Thursday’ comes to end

Central teams competing in state contests dominated sports pages in Junes past

Today’s “Throwback Thursday” is the final installment of this retrospective look at sports coverage for the spring 2020 season.

For the next four weeks, turn to this page to learn more about the athletes who would have been featured in the athlete profiles in March, April and May if the spring season had not been canceled.

2018 “These girls that I’ve been playing with over these past few years have become more of sisters than teammates. To have my last game with them be winning a state championship against New Trier was absolutely perfect.” — goalie Kelsie Chisholm after the Red Devils became the first team in the state to win an IHSA girls lacrosse championship by beating New Trier 13-3.

2017 “The fact that we made it as far as we did with having only three seniors on the team was incredible. No one

believed that we would even have a chance at winning sectionals at the beginning of the season.” — senior outside hitter Mark Zelisko after the boys volleyball team lost in their opening quarterfinal match at state

2016 “We had the skills of a soccer player to use their feet and the football players to bash and grind it out. So it was a good combination.” — team member Michael Gee after the rugby team finished its undefeated season by vanquishing the Springfield Junior Celts 55-7 to win the Rugby Illinois Division 3 state title

2015 “You’ve got to be loud and able to communicate. You’ve got to be reliable, and when the pitcher is struggling, talk to him and give him some confidence.” — shortstop and pitcher Ben Chapman on the responsibilities of serving as team captain

2012 “Some of my best friends have come from softball. I think that’s why I started loving the game. Some of the girls were awesome and I really enjoyed playing the game and the competition.” — Lauren Daleen on what she enjoys most about the sport

“Watching Peter (Heneghan) and Alex (Hagermoser) win the state doubles title — that was definitely the highlight, not just for me, but for the whole team, watching them win. They had such a close semifinal match and they had to come from a first set down. They had to really fight to win that one. It was really cool to watch them be able to overcome that and win.” — freshman Martin Joyce after the team capped off an undefeated season by winning the state title in Arlington Heights. The title was the 21st in school history, making Central’s program the most successful in the state.

2011 “The desire to defeat the odds is kind of what pushes me to play better.” — softball co-captain Kathryn Klebenow

2010 “Getting used to being hit by 70-mph balls, 80-mph balls.” — Eddie Coyle on the biggest challenge of playing goalie for the boys lacrosse team

— compiled by Pamela Lannom
